M2... IS IT TOO LATE?

M2...will it be 3DO's savior or is it too late? In a recent interview, Hugh Martin, the new president of 3DO, announced that the M2 will not be coming out until the fall of 1996. With the PlayStation and Saturn both out and Nintendo's Ultra 64 presently scheduled for an April 1996 launch in the States, one question that must be running through the heads of the shirts at 3DO/Panasonic is: Will there be any "early adapters" (those of you who must be the first to buy the latest products) left to buy their M2, even though it will be the fourth new system to hit the stores?

Sega started first and captured a fair share of the early adapters, but as sales have verified, an even larger percentage of the early adapters JUMPED ON THE PLAYSTATION'S BANDWAGON. When the Ultra 64 hits, an even larger number of players will finally make a next-generation commitment. Who and how many will wait for the M2? Probably not many, because by Christmas of 1996, the Saturn and PlayStation will already be going into their $199 to $249 price-reduction phase. A new system just won't be competitive with systems that will be cheaper and have libraries of games numbering in the hundreds.

The M2 will also have other disadvantages. The hardware will be made by a company that may not want, or be able to, get into a price war with the other systems. PANASONIC HAS BEEN VERY SLOW in offering price reductions on the 3DO, and there aren't any signs that it would be willing to take a loss on the hardware.

Also, without killer software, any system would have a hard time going up against the likes of Nintendo and Sony. If I were Panasonic, I would be giving Midway a blank check now for the exclusive rights to MK4. Bringing out three to five no-name games, no matter how good they look, is not a way to launch a system. Even getting a big-name game, with all the major players already locked up for the existing systems is going to be A MAJOR PROBLEM facing 3DO/Panasonic.

Then there is the publicity that they are not getting. Things were good a few months back when 3DO released the specs for the M2. But as we all know, specs only impress people for so long and slick, short demos mean nothing to a player when he or she can walk down the block and buy Virtua Fighter 2 or Tekken 2 now. Unfortunately, 3DO has taken a Nintendo "no comment" type attitude. We tried to get a photo of a prototype M2 for a story and you would have thought we were asking for a national secret. No game screens are available, and other than a PR person who repeats the same specs and nothing else, no new information on the M2 is available. This is all very strange because with the Ultra 64 launch set for next week, one would think that 3DO/Panasonic would want to get as much M2 info out to the press as possible to defuse Nintendo's event. There must be some logic there, but sometimes things just aren't very apparent.

THE RAVEN PROJECT

A HIGH-SPEED ALIEN DEATH RIDE

When the alien Armids invaded Earth, no one thought they would conquer us so easily. The massive military of Earth was no match for the sheer destructive firepower at the disposal of the Armids. Earth was no longer a free world.

In the midst of the destruction, a rebel force has formed to combat the Armid and save mankind from extinction. Using strike and fade tactics, the rebels (you) have managed to stay alive long enough to come up with some real hot strategies. This rebel force is all mankind has left, and you just signed up for the long haul aboard the Raven!

The Raven Cast

Aboard the Raven

Admiral Seymour Grant - In his fifties, Grant is the rebel commander. He's a reserved man with a dry wit who inspires quiet confidence. He rarely loses his temper. Grant listens carefully to opinions but is very much his own man. His presence, while remote, is benevolent.

Captain Sander Adamak (ex-Isaac Torpov) - The Raven's Executive Officer and Grant's second in command. 40 years old, Adamak is a cold, reserved character, though respected. He's a crewcut, stiff-backed military officer with an unbending sense of duty and discipline. He puts the "big picture" ahead of any personal preferences, which leads him to advise courses of action which may seem heartless.

The Raven Project is a hot action title that will be available on PC CD-ROM for the holidays.

Yes, this is you, a fearless pilot stationed aboard the Raven. There's nothing like stylin' while you fly!

How's this for action? Strap up in a combat suit and fight the Armids in hand-to-hand combat for the Earth!

The cut scenes are like seeing a futuristic movie unfold.

No gridiron traffic today. Just Armids to blow away.

That gunship doesn't stand a chance against your firepower.

Danny Cutter (ex- Scott Jensen) - aka "Ax Man." The hero. 27 years old. Cutter is a Lt. Commander. He used to be something of a hothead, willing to go up against authority when necessary. He is now resigned to the principle that since you can't beat them, you might as well join them. This approach doesn't bring much satisfaction, however; Danny is restless and can be a sorehead. His fundamentally free-spirit nature makes him unsuited for military life; he has stayed with the military because his family has traditionally been in the armed services.

When you're done pawking at this fine piece of gunnery, take it up and blast some Armids!

Battle for Freedom!

This war takes place on Earth and in space where you must control gunships, mech suits, and generally dictate the path the Raven crew take to win. Without your guidance, the war is lost, so don't screw up! You will be greeted by several military personnel and civilians who all have a key role in the overthrowing of the Armid invaders. Pay close attention when someone speaks in this game to gather vital intelligence and gain the upper hand in your battles. The Briefer Droids will hand you your current assignments and may give you tips on how best to handle certain situations. Be wary of your surroundings too, because in The Raven Project, you control your destiny and never follow a predetermined path. This is one of the reasons the game is so unique. You never know if a non-player character will reveal a vital clue.

SEGA'S SIZZLING POLYGON FIGHTING GAME COMES HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS!

The Saturn has only been out for half a year, and already gamers can expect a hot holiday treat to explode on the system. Virtua Fighter 2 boasts to be virtually identical to the arcade version. With awesome graphics, combos, animation and gameplay, how could anyone get bored with this one? If this should occur (a rarity), Sega has countered it with different modes of play: Arcade, Vs. and Ranking. Don't think it'll be easy to win against the computer either, because the computer will learn your moves and use them against you. The story begins on PAGE 80.

"Sega has incorporated artificial intelligence that actually 'learns' your style of fighting and will mimic your patterns!"

IT IS TIME TO GO BANANAS AGAIN WITH THE SEQUEL TO DONKEY KONG COUNTRY!

The big guy has been locked up in a cage by Captain K. Roo! It's up to Diddy and newcomer Dixie to stop the baddies and rescue Donkey Kong. Sounds easy, right? Wrong! There is so much packed into this game, that most DK veterans will have a hard time trying to locate secret levels and battle the elements as well as the enemies. However, there are some new (and old) friends to help you along your quest. A spider, rhino, swordfish and parrot will aid you on your way—if you can find them. It's still the same DK, but improved. The story begins on PAGE 160.

"The environment has new elements that even seasoned DK players may not adapt to readily, such as the windy stages of Gusty Glade and Windy Well."

EGM² EXPOSES ULTIMATE MK3'S HIDDEN CHARACTERS, FINISHING MOVES AND SECRETS!

Mortal Kombat 3 is definitely not over...it has improved! Get a first glance at the three hidden characters: Mileena, Ermac and the old Sub-Zero who are locked by the infamous Ultimate Kombat codes. Also, take a brief look at two other playable secret characters: human Smoke and Rain. There are plenty of new secrets and Vs. Screen codes, as well as tons of the latest awesome pictures of Fatalities, Babalities, Animalities and Friendships to tantalize you! The story begins on PAGE 218.

"What may have seemed like a simple upgrade is now becoming as big of a rage as Mortal mania was."

Here's the new A-110 "Barracuda" Fighter. Fast. Powerful. And heavily armed. Another tactical advantage in the war for the worlds.

Choose from any one of several starting worlds. But be prepared. It's lethal from all of them.

This is the new Hellfire rocket. The name speaks for itself.

The new "Big Ben" Gun Tower is a perfect defender. Its deadly firepower, ultra-heavy shielding, and 360° rotation will blow your mind. And blow aliens away.

The battlefield is 400% larger. And doesn't have paths. Which gives you, and your enemy, more room to rumble.

FOR YOUR TRIGGER FINGER.

This is the new H-3 "Typhoon". A hovercraft. It may be small, but it's highly maneuverable. And the fact that it can carry its own weight in weapons makes it highly efficient in close combat.

Consult your physician before attempting strenuous warfare. Shockwave™ 2 on the 3DO™ system has 50 minutes of full-motion video and even more killing power than its predecessor. Three new vehicles to attack from. Each with its own unique destructive capabilities. Lots of new weapons. And plenty of new aliens firing back. Stretching and warm-ups are advised.

IS NINTENDO'S GOAL TO MAKE BIG BUCKS OR BIG ENTERTAINMENT?

Dear EGM,
I have recently finished reading David Sheff's book entitled Game Over—How Nintendo Conquered the World. Apart from captivating me for three days, it also revealed information about Nintendo that has made this clear regarding the (presumably) soon-to-be launched Ultra 64/Ultra Famicom system. When I first heard the details about this system (from you guys, of course!), the one thing that surprised me (and many others, I'm sure) was the fact that Nintendo seems to have opted for a cartridge-based system rather than utilizing the current CD technology, which has been deemed adequate by two of the major players, namely Sega and Sony. However, I am now not surprised. The reason: Nintendo would make billions more on a cartridge-based system due to the fact that they are the only ones who would manufacture the game cartridges and thus receive a hefty royalty from each unit sold, even by its licensees. This was the case with virtually 100 percent of NES software and is presumably the current state of affairs with the Super NES. CD manufacture CDs for its system [sic]. However, one question remains: the price of the software. I think Nintendo is so confident in its marketing power that any price would be accepted. There is no doubt in my mind that these cartridges will be more expensive than the current, since there seems to be no conceivable way that Nintendo (or its "dream team" of licensees) could fully utilize this 64-Bit technology without more expense. Thus the question in my mind: Is Nintendo sincere when it says that its primary goal is entertainment or is Hiroshi Yamauchi simply planning to milk the industry for all its worth?

Rajesh Deshpande
Australia

Well, you'll get different answers depending who you ask. Nintendo's stance is that they are using a cartridge-based system due to the limitations of current CD technology—mainly access time. They want their games to play as fast as ever with all the other improvements the new hardware will allow. Others may say the Big N is being greedy by trying to make all the cartridges. However, you have to look at the cost of CDs. Most CD games are still way up there in price even though it only cost a buck or so to produce them. Therefore, it's unlikely that the Big N is making a cartridge system for simple profit reasons. The fact is they would be the only ones doing so and thereby have an excellent edge over CD-based platforms with slower access time. As for the price of games, we'll just have to see how much information can be crammed into the carts and what price they will sell for but you can be sure their prices will be competitive.

Great letter, Rajesh! Your Accinam Dual Turbo joysticks are on their way!

*Note: All floating heads in the Letters section are members of the EGM and EGM staffs. Well, except for the animal heads...maybe!

IT'S NOT JUST ANOTHER MARIO

Dear EGM,

What the heck is this Super Mario World 2 (Yoshi's Island)? I mean come on! Super Mario died after Super Mario World. At least Sonic knows how to die. But this Mario garbage, come on. In EGM #62, the preview of Sonic and Knuckles, the section of the Good, the Bad, and the Ugly, the Bad states: "It's more Sonic again," and that was the fourth Sonic. (That's if you don't count Game Gear versions.) But there has been twice as many Mario titles as Sonic. Shall I count all Sonic titles? Okay, there's Sonic 1-3, Sonic Spinball, Sonic CD, Sonic 1-3 (Game Gear), Sonic and Knuckles and Knuckles Chaotix...that's all. As for Mario titles, shall I count? Okay...Super Mario Brothers 1-3, Super Mario Land 1-3 (GB), Super Mario vs. Wario (GB), Mario Paint, Mario Golf, Mario Tennis, • Another Mario? Yoshi's Island isn't like the other Mario games.

Wario vs. Bomberman, Mario Wario (Super NES), Mario Picross (you know, that puzzle one) then two other Mario titles, Super Mario Kart, Super Mario All-Stars, Yoshi's Cookies, Super Mario World, Yoshi, Doctor Mario (NES), Mario's Missing, an upcoming Mario RPG (U64) and Super Mario World 2. Let's talk about Super Mario World 2. Okay, Mario and Yoshi are babies battling who knows what...is that stupid or what? Although it may have good graphics, the rest is garbage. I still say Sonic and Knuckles beats the pants off Super Mario World 2. They both have good graphics but S&K has one thing no other system has: The interlock where you can play two other Sonic games with that game. Now if they made another Sonic game right now, you'd say, "Not more Sonic!" But yet after 23 games you still say, "It has suuucccccchhh good graphics," which totally ticks me off, because even if it's 44, you'll still love it. That just shows how much you loooovveee Mario. In closing, I just want to say, "Give it up Nintendo. Mario is dead!"

Tim Santos
Los Angeles, CA

I'm guessing that you are not a Mario fan. There are different features in Yoshi's Island than in previous Mario games. The main one is that you play as Yoshi trying to keep baby Mario safe. The special effects are fantastic and the graphics are out of this world, too. You are right to say that there has been a lot of Mario games, but not all of them are top-notch. As well, there are some pretty good Sonic games. We do give credit to games that are deserving of it.

IS THIS A GOOD DEAL?

Dear EGM,

I was wondering if it is a good deal to trade in any 10 of your Genesis, Super NES, 3DO, Saturn or Jaguar games for only $100 discount on the PlayStation? I really wouldn't think so because you're going to be trading in 10 games that you at least spent $50-80 on, and all you are getting is $100 off the PlayStation. I don't think it is worth it, but I do want to know your opinion on this matter.

Joseph Maldonado
Brooklyn, NY

The answer is yes and no, Joseph. You are not going to get back the same amount for what you paid for the games. However, if you have already beaten the games and they are collecting dust, then it is a good deal to trade in your games toward a new system.

Congratulations to EGM assistant editor Mark "Mac" Hain and Nancy "Hammer" Huff on their recent engagement! Aren't they cute?

GIMME A BUCKET!

Dear EGM,

Prior to writing this letter, I witnessed what must be one of the most horrible TV advertisements out there. Can you guess what it is? Yep, that's right: Yoshi's Island. First of all, it's totally repulsive. Who wants to see some fat guy stuffing his face? There must be something seriously wrong with the game. Does it really have anything to do with the game anyway? All it does is get people's attention, and it did for me in a very negative way. This "Play It Loud" thing has gone too far, and I think something should be done before Nintendo has to start rating their ads.

The ad does have something to do with the game. Yoshi, just like the fat man, devours everything in sight. Also, it's jam-packed with lots of options! You have to admit that it is better than some of the ads out there, such as the ones that have violent or sexual content. You can do something about watching the commercial on TV, though—turn the channel!

TOO COOL TO DIE YET!

Dear EGM,

The 16-Bit systems are not dead yet. With games like Donkey Kong Country, Sonic and Knuckles, Mickey Mania and Yoshi's Island, these systems are still raging on. With upcoming games like Donkey Kong Country 2, Earthworm

Jim 2, Mortal Kombat 3 and Toy Story, I'm not giving up on my Genesis or Super NES yet. All you people who are reading this letter (who invested your money in a new, state-of-the-art, $10 billion system) are probably slapping your foreheads thinking how stupid you are. Now all of you 8 million-Bit system owners have probably gotten so wrapped up in colors, controls, bits, sound and polygons that you haven't considered the main idea: fun! Yeah, that's right. Fun! Think about it...how many games for your new system are actually fun to play? For example, Daytona USA for the Saturn—Polygons: 10 billion; Fun Factor: -2. "Wow look at the graphics!" "Hear that sound!" "Too bad it ain't fun to play!" While every billionaire is marching down the video path of life, holding their Saturn and PlayStation flags, I'll be standing tall waving my Genesis flag for all to see...16-Bit gamers unite.

Gus Krieger
Los Angeles, CA

I'm sure next-generation system owners will say you are wrong—that their games are also fun for a number of reasons. It is true that people shouldn't think the 16-Bit systems are dead yet. However, there will come a day when there will be less and less new games for 16-Bitters.

• With awesome games like Earthworm Jim 2, the 16-Bit systems are still kickin'!

I'M SEEING THINGS IN 3-D!

Dear EGM,

How did you guys come up with the idea for EGM 3-D, and how did you make those cool, funky glasses?

Bo Cross

We like to experiment with new ideas, especially when the 3-D effect really works. Chromastik, Inc. manufactured the glasses. You can still use those glasses on any EGM and EGM² issue for a neat 3-D effect.

PSYCHO LETTER OF THE MONTH

Now for that part of the show where the truly insane get a chance to shine. This month's letter comes from Jason Ruff of Fairbanks, AK! Jason has made a few demands we must comply with or else he's going to destroy one of our issues. Nice picture!

Dear EGM,

I am holding one of your issues hostage. As you can see, I have torn off one of the pages as proof. I will continue to tear off pages one piece at a time until you print my letter. My demands are the following:

1. Sony must contact Warp Graphics and get the exclusive rights to ElfQuest the fighting game.
2. Root beer should be sold at every public grade school with the lunch program.
3. You must print a 3-inch tall by 4 1/2-inch wide picture of caviar (ya know...fish eggs) on an odd number of pages.

Love 'n' kisses,
Jason Ruff

We didn't think your letter was too psycho, Jason. However, this changed once we saw that you enclosed a picture! Does anyone disagree with us when we say he looks scary? Your T-shirt is in the mail.

NOMAD IS AN ISLAND...

Dear EGM,

I just got my Sega Nomad and I like it! The only bad thing about it is the way the game sticks out. I've had games freeze on me when I bump into something. Sega should've made the game go into the back, like the Game Gear. I have found a way to keep the game from moving: Wedge an automotive fuse in the back of the game pack. Don't force it in—just stick in the little feet. This keeps the game pack from wobbling around.

David Lima
Mission, TX

Thanks for the cool tip, David!

• Is the setup of the Nomad causing games to freeze up?

KEEPING TRACK OF $!

Dear EGM,

I was wondering if you could shed some light on something: Is the video-game industry set up similar to the music industry? I know the music industry has a governing body that keeps track of sales (Sound Scan). It is not perfect because Sound Scan only keeps track of major music retail chains (The Whiz, SamGoodie, Musicland, Tower, H.M.V.). Lost in the mix is the local Mom-and-Pop stores. This is where my question arises from. Does the video-game industry have a similar governing body? Because I know gamers, like myself, who buy games from these Mom-and-Pop stores because we can purchase games cheaper. From $5, $10, maybe even $20 (in the case of Phantasy Star 4) without sales tax. This would give industry white shirts (i.e., Sega) reasons for not supplying certain genres (RPG, action/adventures) or acquiring third-party licenses (Enix, SquareSoft). Is there anything that can be done? Is there such a body? How about mailing the letters you receive about this to Sega, because gamers seem more reluctant to write this info in to Sega than your magazine. After all, it's in the best interest of the industry.

Horace Hami Hon
Brooklyn, NY

To my knowledge the only governing system for video games is for the ratings given to games. However, it isn't the cheap prices at Mom-and-Pop stores keeping certain games from being released. Big-name companies need to be reminded by gamers what they want to see being released. That's why it's a good idea to send your requests in to companies or at least to us at EGM!

THE KEY IS: ADS, ADS, ADS

Dear EGM,

I have a problem about 3DO's marketing...or should I say lack of. 3DO will succeed but only if they have advertising. I have yet to see an ad on TV or in the national press for the 3DO. I own the system and I am very delighted with it. I feel that unless this product is given more prominence where it matters—TV and national press—I fear the consequences. What gets me is that it is such a good product that anyone could sell it in a minute. I seem to be doing more marketing than Robert Lindsey. There's all the hype about how great future systems are. Despite all the talk of how a machine's only as good as its software, Saturn and PlayStation will have about four decent titles. I hope Robert Lindsey will do more marketing for the M2. If he doesn't, I'll do it.

Jimmy Belley
Gatineau, Canada

The last TV ad I saw for the 3DO was when the system was bashing Super NES and Genesis. I haven't seen any ads for the system nor the games, except for our mag. With the release of the M2 soon, hopefully there will be more ads. Letters like yours will keep the system alive.

KI: THE MOVIE ALREADY OUT?

Dear EGM,

After watching the movies Street Fighter, Double Dragon and Mortal Kombat, I was wondering if there was going to be a movie based on Killer Instinct? My dad said that there was a movie called Killer Instinct sometime in the late '80s. He said he couldn't remember much about it except it starred Woody Harrelson from the movies Natural Born Killers and

KI: THE MOVIE ALREADY OUT?

(CONT.)

The Cowboy Boy. I looked all through our video collection, but found nothing. I asked several friends, but they were just as puzzled as I was. I finally asked a clerk at the video store, and he said he never heard of this movie. I even walked around the video store for a while but could not find it. You may be my last hope. Does a movie starring Woody Harrison called Killer Instinct exist? If it does, was the game borrowed from this movie? Does the movie have any relation to the game? If it does or doesn't have any relation with the game, where in the world can I find and watch this movie?

Jason Taylor
Rockwall, TX

According to Mo Ryan, assistant editor for GAMEPLAY, Woody Harrison wasn't in a movie called Killer Instinct. However, there was a Killer Instinct movie in the early '90s but it wasn't based on the video game and didn't star any big-name actors. Maybe there will be a movie soon.

VB VIRTUALLY UNAPPEALING?

Dear EGM,

I must say this...Virtual Boy...is one big piece o'garbage! I can go on and on about this stupid, little system (but I'll save you the time). First of all, I played this game called Tolero Boxer. I stuck my eyes into the darn goggles and was nearly blinded by those red flashes. The graphics were reminiscent of Game Boy games. There's nothing virtual about the stupid system, only the ugly headset. But wait, the opponent's hands were moving in 3-D. Wowwww! I'm really disappointed in Nintendo for releasing this system.

Why couldn't they just make a 32-bit system like Sega and Sony did? Did they try to do something new? Well, they failed big time!

Alex Mercado

Not every system is for everyone, I'm sure there are some gamers who like the Virtual Boy, and think it is a fantastic system. We encourage others to write in their opinions on the Virtual Boy.

PIPPIN TO BOUNCE ONTO GAMING SCENE IN 1996

Bandai, the Japanese toymaker currently making a mint off of the Mighty Morphin Power Rangers' Super NES titles and action figures, has temporarily delayed the release of the Pippin.

The system, which runs on Power PC technology licensed from Apple Computer, was originally scheduled to be released around Christmas, but it has since been delayed until at least March.

However, EGM sources have learned that the Pippin will be test marketed in San Francisco, New York, Chicago and two other cities on a rental basis to see if the system has the marketing muscle to compete effectively.

So far the Pippin has attracted more than 100 third-party licensees, and 10-15 titles are expected at launch.

The system will be priced in Japan at $500 and will feature a 4x speed CD-ROM drive with two serial ports and a Mac OS tool box. The Pippin won't just be a gaming system; Bandai hopes the Pippin will become a prime product as a Video CD playback machine. Also, a geoport will accept phone line hook-ups, so gamers can play against each other or communicate

If the M2 is 3DO's lottery ticket, then this company has just hit the jackpot. Matsushita Electrical Industrial Co. will shell out $100 million plus royalties to 3DO for exclusive rights to the M2 technology. It's a high-stakes version of passing the buck, but it could result in big bucks for both 3DO and Matsushita, which will sell M2 hardware and software under the

The deal has raised many questions within the gaming community regarding the future of the M2. EGM addresses some big questions on players' minds.

■ Why did 3DO decide to sell the M2?

It depends on who you talk to. 3DO's Trip Hawkins described the deal as a perfect marriage between a "powerful 32-Bit technology" and "a consumer electronics leader." Behind this PR smokescreen, some analysts believe that 3DO didn't have the money or resources to market the machine against Nintendo's Ultra 64 and other systems.

UPDATE: WHO'S MAKING THE CONNECTION

Networks. Internet. These two words have sprung up in ever-increasing numbers in conversations regarding the new platform systems, thanks to advances in technology and rising standards in console gaming. Here's the latest on what top companies are saying about their new systems and the potential for hopping onto the Internet or for long-distance networked play...

SATURN: THE FRONT-RUNNER

Sega has shown the most promise thus far regarding Internet access—in Japan, at least. By next spring, Sega hopes to have an Internet Saturn system set up in Japan. Each system add-on will reportedly sell for ¥20,000 (about $200). Sega of America officials won't talk about the system or any such possible U.S. application until 1996. Also on tap is a joint effort by Sega and Fujitsu to hook up Saturn owners to NIFTY-Serve, Japan's equivalent to America Online. That system could be up and running by March.

ULTRA 64: THE INNOVATOR

While Internet access hasn't surfaced in the Ultra 64 rumor mill, talk of a network system has risen.

That resulted from Nintendo's decision to inject some cash into a venture headed by Square of Japan and another Japanese software firm. This new venture, according to Square officials, will look into a modem-linked service that could include network games and shopping and banking functions in Japan. As usual, Nintendo has remained coy about the matter.

PSX AND M2: THE UNKNOWN

The two companies offered vague answers in regard to Internet/networking capabilities...

■ Jim Whims, SCEA senior vice president: "There's a whole lot of options there. We're exploring them right now."
■ 3DO President Hugh Martin: "We are doing active R&D and...we are a licensed M2 peripheral provider."

SHIFTS M2 GEARS

A $100 million infusion will help 3DO's shaky financial base as the firm turns to making M2 software.

■ I own a Goldstar 3DO.
Will it get an M2 upgrade?

Unfortunately, Goldstar owners will have to sit tight. As of press time, Goldstar is still "actively negotiating for a sublicense" from Matsushita, according to 3DO President Hugh Martin. Without one, there won't be a Goldstar M2.

■ Does the deal change the M2 release time line?

Not yet. Both 3DO and Matsushita are aiming for a fall '96 release, contingent on having "three to five A+ titles," a strong ad campaign and 50,000 units ready to ship and sell, Martin said. "We're not going to go head to head with the Ultra 64," said Panasonic spokesperson Bill Gardner. "Panasonic will not bring the M2 to market without quality software."

■ What happened to Sega and 3DO's rumored negotiations for the M2?

Here's the kicker: 3DO still has a non-exclusive license for M2 coin-op applications. Sega could still make a play for the M2 for arcade use.

■ I'm not a 3DO fan. Why should I care about this deal in the first place?

There's much more at stake than meets the eye. Matsushita wants Digital Video Disc technology on the map—big business if it renders the VHS standard obsolete. By packaging M2 with DVD, it can sell a VCR-video game combo that could blow both markets wide open.

Details of the deal

Here's what each company will get as a result of the deal:

Panasonic

- Exclusive rights to use M2 technology in video-game systems, Digital Video Disc players and TVs
- Power to sublicense M2 technology to software and hardware makers

The bottom line: Matsushita gets to call the shots now, and pick and choose its allies. The $100 million could prove to be small potatoes if DVD replaces VHS.

- 3DO will be paid out in the next couple years.
- Will help set up a non-exclusive license for coin-op PC and software development to be based on M2.

■ Will help set up third-party licensing program with Matsushita; 3DO gets out of third-party royalties.

- Will provide chips, design specs and development hardware and software to be used in M2.

The bottom line: 3DO goes for a quick return on its investment, rather than gamble big on the M2's success. 3DO stays a major player with M2 software.

Build it. And they will come. Then you can Kill them.

WRESTLEMANIA TIPS ON VIDEO

Die-hard devotees of WWF Wrestlemania for home systems can now get some extra help in their corner.

Coliseum Video, makers of a series of WWF videos, has brought out a video guide that contains 25 minutes of tips and strategies for Acclaim's WWF Wrestlemania.

The video, which stars some of the WWF's top grapplers, covers the Super NES, 32X, Genesis, PlayStation and CD-ROM versions.

Because of the success of the WWF video line, Coliseum Video officials saw the strategy guide is an "ideal" way to reach the WWF's 40 million fans across the globe.

Interested gamers can either find the strategy guide for rent at their local video chain or mail-order it through a special form in the game's instruction manual.

IBM CRASHES PSX PARTY

PC SOFTWARE ARM TO DEVELOP 32-BIT GAMES

IBM Interactive Studio, the entertainment software arm of Big Blue, has plans to release three "arcade-type" PlayStation games, all of which will likely be out by the fall of '96.

The newfound interest in console gaming may seem like a radical departure, but the studio is well equipped for such a move, IBM's Paul Zuzelo said.

"The studio is really a full publisher in the interactive games [market]," said Zuzelo, executive producer and head of product development at the studio. "You can't be a real publisher without paying attention to all the platforms."

Zuzelo declined to discuss specific game titles because agreements have yet to be hammered out. However, he did say one game, Quest for Fame, is "a strong contender for being in that market."

Currently out for PC CD-ROM, Quest for Fame turns players into guitar fiends who strum their way from the garage to a rock concert with Aerosmith. In this rock 'n' roll adventure, players will get to jam to Aerosmith classics such as "Dude Looks Like a Lady" and "Livin' on the Edge."

The game comes packaged with the "VPick," a purple plastic pick that makes electric guitar noises when brushed against any surface.

According to Zuzelo, the pick would be a new peripheral if Quest for Fame ever makes its way to the PlayStation.

NAKI ROLLS OUT PSX CONTROLLER

Naki's PlayStation PlayPad may not have been the first third-party controller on the market, but its makers certainly had a good reason not to rush to the market.

According to Naki officials, some PlayStation owners have complained about third-party controllers that are incompatible with memory cards.

"Since the memory card interfaces with the controller, you can save, you can't retrieve or vice versa on some games," said David Naghi, Naki vice president of marketing and sales. That problem will not happen with Naki's PlayPad controller, now out in stores for $19.99.

To ensure that the PlayPads wouldn't suffer that same problem, Michael Ambriz of Naki's quality control R&D department tested the controller with the PlayStation's game library. "I do all this testing with different games, to see if I'm able to save [games properly]," Ambriz said. "We make sure when we bring in our product that it's 100 percent compatible."

The PlayPad is shaped like the PlayStation control, but with smoother exterior curves and a fully raised D-pad. The PlayPad has buttons for slow motion, variable turbo and auto fire. A special LED shows when buttons or features are in use.

Other Sony PlayStation peripherals from Naki include an RF game switch ($16.95), a controller extension cord ($7.99) and a CD cleaning kit ($19.99).

LIGHT-SPEED CONTROL

INFRARED TECHNOLOGY REVOLUTIONIZES JOYSTICK DESIGN

Imagine buying a Ferrari and replacing the engine with one from an Indy Car. An already quick machine becomes blindingly fast. Now imagine doing that with a joystick control. Sounds weird? Not to Perfect 360 Joystick Controls, a company that is bringing its coin-op technology to home systems with the Speed Box. Instead of mechanical switches, it uses infrared signals for the joystick control.

We put the controller through its paces, giving it a taste of Mortal Kombat

3 and Super Street Fighter II. The joystick could have been a tad stiffer, but it felt fluid in hand. It took a while to get a proper feel for the Speed Box's joystick. In any case, this controller is certainly a must for beginners trying to master moves difficult to pull off with a control pad.

A big plus for the Speed Box is a switch and special cable that makes the controller compatible with both Super NES and Genesis. For more information or to order one for $89.99, call (800) 230-7360.

RATING 9.0

Why did they make a better joystick?

In a standard arcade joystick (below), diagonal movement is recorded when two micro-switches are pressed: A hit-or-miss proposition especially if the joystick is worn out. In the Speed Box control (right), infrared beams are spaced to give each direction the same response area. Major advantages: longer durability and a greater "sweet spot" to register diagonal movement.

SOFTWARE BREAKTHROUGH MAKES INTERACTIVE MOVIES A REALITY

Imagine watching a highly realistic movie in which true-life video actors move in a 3-D digitized environment.

Sound innovative? Well, imagine that you can control those characters just like in a video game.

In the past, such a project would require megabucks from a major production company and endless hours of post-production work.

All that could change come 1996, thanks to Studio Arts Multimedia. The company has announced development of the Interactive Movie Engine, a set of development tools for video-game makers.

At the moment, the Interactive Movie Engine is being developed for Windows 95. However, the Engine will be developed for 3DO, PlayStation and Ultra 64 platforms. (As of press time, no announcement has been made regarding Sega Saturn development.)

"I've always dreamed of the days when interactive gaming would involve traditional cinematic techniques," said Studio Arts Multimedia CEO Troy Lyndon.

"Players will have real-time control over real actors, not cartoon-drawn images."

The tools promise to skyrocket video-game realism to an entirely new level, while creating a new genre of games/movies.

The engine allows developers to quickly combine real-time, on-screen actors that can be controlled by joystick or keyboard with realistic computer backgrounds. In essence, games that look like movies, but play like video games.

The engine won't be available for licensing until 1996, but the technology has already attracted the attention of the gaming industry.

To help usher in the technology, Studio Arts Multimedia and Corel Corp. are teaming up to produce The King, The Sword, The Legend, an interactive movie that could feature up to 50 actors and actresses in various roles.

The movie, halfway finished at this point, will hit the IBM-PC next summer or fall. As far as other platforms go, "nothing firm has been set," Lyndon said.

"We expect it to be huge. There's going to be technology people are going to see that'll be extraordinary."

ACCLAIM READY TO TEST COIN-OP WATERS

Only a couple of months ago, EGM ran a news story stating that Acclaim might be "dead in the water" without Midway's home conversions.

However, new news indicates that Acclaim might just be "playing possum." In August, Acclaim announced the expansion of its technical and creative staff to include two new artists, a programmer and an electrical engineer. In the four new positions, Senior Electrical Engineer James Hunkins is responsible for hardware development, while Senior Artists Ed Pearson and Jason Leong will create visual effects for the company's forthcoming coin-op arcade games.

Batman Forever will be Acclaim's first coin-op.

Additionally, Tom Desmarais will serve as the lead programmer. All three will report directly to John Pasierb, vice president of research and development of the newly formed Acclaim Coin-Op Entertainment.

The first of hopefully many arcade products by Acclaim will be based on the latest Batman movie, Batman Forever. It's possible Acclaim will set up an arcade-to-home game production system, similar to the formula Sega has found successful.

In regards to the story we ran in EGM #16, how well will Acclaim do in a brand-new market and without the Williams/Bally/Midway licenses? Only time will tell.

ARCADE CLASSICS FIND THEIR WAY BACK HOME

NEW

Classics are back in the arcade. Acclaim has announced that it has acquired the rights to three classic arcade games: Dragon's Lair, Zaxxon, and Mappy. These games will be converted for the new Acclaim Coin-Op Entertainment line. Dragon's Lair is a classic laserdisc game, while Zaxxon and Mappy are classic shoot 'em ups. Acclaim plans to release these games in the near future.

STILL THE YEAR OF MORTAL KOMBAT?

Williams/Bally/Midway is riding high. With the coin-op releases of Wrestlemania and Open Ice, along with great pinballs such as Johnny Mnemonic and Indiana Polls 500, business would be booming regardless. However, with the release of Ultimate MK3, the firm's fortunes are through the roof! Part of that success might be due to the 100+ licensees on Williams' roster. The amount of Mortal Kombat merchandise available is staggering to say the least. But wait—there's more! In late December/early January, Brady Games is releasing the Mortal Kombat CCG, based on MKI and II. The object of the card game is to deplete your opponent's energy points in the best two out of three rounds with different cards. Cards will be available in 60-card starter decks ($7.99) and 15-card boosters ($2.50). Also released recently by GT is Mortal Kombat 3 for the computer. MK for the PC was the best version of MK—period. MKII was really good, but it suffered from some major slowdown problems on low-end systems. MK3 suffers from the same problem when dealing with a 486/66 or less. However, with a Pentium, PC MK3 looks like the best version ever.

Micro Machines THE ORIGINAL SCALE MINIATURES TURBO TOURNAMENT '96

A constructive addiction

Yet another installment of Micro Machine action is headed in the direction of Mega Drive owners Oct. 20. Unlike the previous two editions, MM '96 allows players to create and interact with courses of their own design using the new Construction Kit. Included with this J-Cart, eight-player compatible game is the greatest supplement ever in the Micro Machines game line. Choose from a variety of different obstacles and terrains. Afterward, compose them into a course of your wildest imagination and get a few friends to play along! This much-anticipated game should live up to its hype.

Choose from a wide variety of interesting landscapes.

Up to eight simultaneous players can enjoy Micro '96.

charm?

Not much is known about this third installment of one of the most popular Neo-Geo fighting game series to date. There are at least 12 characters, most of which are returning from parts I and II (such as Galford, Haohmaru and more). However, a couple of characters are new to the Samurai series and seem to be the most powerful. We'll have more to come on this hot sequel!

BUST-A-MOVE

Arrange the bubbles in the correct sequence to progress further in this highly addictive puzzler.

More addictive puzzling fun with the Bubble Bobbles?

Remember those cute little creatures from Bubble Bobble? Well, they have reappeared in the game Bust-A-Move. Along the same lines as many other puzzlers, arrange the colored spheres along certain parameters in order to progress to more challenging and complicated stages. Unlike yester-year's boring puzzle games, this one comes packed full of interesting sounds, music and graphics. The backgrounds behind the puzzle area are always interesting, and they contribute to the motivational value of the game. So if you're looking for some puzzling action or just want to see cute, little green creatures, Bust-A-Move is for you.

Attack of the Mutant Penguins

Mutant Penguins?

In this Jaguar game, it is your job to get rid of the alien and mutant penguins infesting the world any way you can. The aliens have brought a weapon of destruction—the Doomscale—with them, and you must use Bernard or Rodney to stop them from activating it. Both characters have a huge array of weapons to kill the baddies with, and you can use the machines you find around the levels to kill them. There are also good Earth penguins that will help you sometimes. Good penguins will also try to reach the Doomscale, because they can reverse the effect of alien penguins, so let them through. It's time to wade in and kick some penguin butt!

This is the machine you must stop from destroying the level by getting all the items before it explodes.

Pull switches all over the level to open new passages to other parts of the level. They are often not easily found.

ICE Cube ON SATURN:

"MAYBE YOU THINK YOU KNOW WHO I AM." "why are you so angry?"

Okay, no one's ever asked us that. But CHECK IT. Sega Saturn is new. HOW I SEE THINGS

So if you think you know what it's like, OR HOW I FEEL. IT'S NOT LIKE THAT.

It shares the same architecture as $20,000 arcade systems.

MAYBE IF I WRITE IT, OR

but Sega Saturn pumps the hottest arcade titles straight to your reflexes for a fraction of the cost.

"You're welcome. With a gameplay experience

OFF ON THE MIKE. (that grabs you) well, pulls you in, it's no wonder the best games are

YOU'LL UNDERSTAND only on Sega Saturn.

Like intense sports titles with everything but the jock itch.

And this Christmas, EXACTLY

Sega Saturn will have the most electrifying library of EXCLUSIVE

WHAT I'M LIKE... games on the planet.

Games no one else has. So don't go thinking you know what

I DON'T THINK SO."

Sega Saturn is like before you've even experienced it.

And never judge a package by its rap.

STRATEGY TALK

If you're a fan of the arcade game, then you will probably like these versions. Everything from the arcade has been brought to these systems, including some extra options like a tug-of-war. In the tug-of-war, you and your opponent share the same life bar. Each does damage to each other, and the first one to pull the life bar over to his/her side wins. All the versions look really good when compared to the arcade. Fans should definitely enjoy these.

MODES OF PLAY

To overcome boredom with this game (if there ever will be), Sega implemented different modes of play to keep the game fresh. The Arcade Mode is the exact game you get in the arcade. The Vs. Mode allows for head-to-head competition. The Ranking Mode tests how many matches you can win continuously. In the Team Mode, you can choose a team of five characters and fight against another team of five. This is very cool, especially against a friend.

SAME PLAYER

As with most fighting games, a character gets to play against his or her own persona in any of the modes of play.

- Double the speed of VF1
- New backgrounds add realism
- New Tournament Mode

STRATEGY TALK

Wow! It's only been six months since the Saturn was released, and by year's end, Sega fans will be treated to one of the best fighting sequels to hit any game system! Virtua Fighter 2 is an instant hit. In December, it will storm into homes as the hottest fighting game this holiday season. This virtually identical arcade conversion sports the best graphics as well as animation, gameplay and fun for the Sega Saturn thus far. What sets this apart from the rest is its A.I. that's actually very intelligent!

—Al Manuel

Three WAYS TO WIN!

Hey kids! Sonic here to let you know there's more than one way to win in VF2. You can win by Knockout, Ring Out or Time Over!

SUDDEN DEATH

If two fighters end a match in a draw, it will move to Sudden Death. The two are pitted in a much smaller ring. It becomes easier to ring out!

COUNTER DEFENSE

Getting thrown in a fight is very frustrating, especially when it happens a lot. To counter this, players can slip out of an opponent's hold or throw. To execute, you must press Punch and Guard at the same moment your opponent begins to throw you. Timing is critical!

ADVANCED AI

Sega has incorporated Artificial Intelligence that actually "learns" your style of fighting and will mimic your patterns. So if you throw a lot, the computer will throw a lot. If you use a lot of special attacks, the computer will do the same. The better you play against the computer, the more competitive it will play against you. Don't worry if you play some bad matches because there is a slight skill degradation on your computer opponent.

Akira's main strength is in his special attacks and close-range moves. The speed of his attacks make up for the lack of combos.

COMBO ATTACK

This is only a short two-hit series, but it's very effective. To begin, press forward, forward and kick, then kick. This can be a headache on the receiving side.

WARHAWK

Twisted Metal Preview

If you watch the credits, a Twisted Metal preview will be shown at the end.

You can recharge your shields by constantly doing loops by holding down on the controller or by doing a really sharp turn by pushing Right on the control pad while holding down R2 and your afterburners. Just hold your pattern until the shields are full.

Make sure you are always moving and never flying in a straight path. Instead, you'll want to keep changing your course constantly as you home in on the target. This will confuse the enemy.

Your front shields are the strongest. Some of the damage to these will bleed off to the sides.

The green arrow in the middle of the radar points to your primary target. If you get lost or don't know what to do, just follow the radar and aim at something red.

The planes and tanks in the levels will regenerate when killed, so don't waste your missiles on these dudes.

Massive Destruction

There are two classifications of weapons in Warhawk: those that lock-on and those that don't. The Swarmers and Lock-ons will home in on the targets; therefore, these can help identify weak points in enemy structures. However, these should be saved for moving targets. Unload the rockets or plasma cannon on anything standing still.

Swarm Missiles

Because the Warhawk shoots six of these, they are effective in hitting moving targets. The Super Swarm missiles work the same but are faster and more powerful.

Lock-On Missile

These are super strong but slow and inaccurate unless the target is stationary. You don't get very many, so use them sparingly. The Ultra Lock-ons are the best missiles.

Rockets

You get tons of these. They're powerful. Because they don't lock-on, you'll want to use them against something easy to hit. Save the Swarmers and Lock-ons.

Plasma Cannons

This can wipe almost anything out, but it's extremely hard to use. You're better off using one powerful shot instead of a bunch of little ones not charged up much.

Flash Bomb

This weapon completely wipes out enemy fire for a short period. It can aid you in recharging your shields, so save it for a time when you are about to die.

Doomsday Bomb

This thing rocks, blowing up everything in sight. It can be of great help when you can't find a place to hide in the canyon or gauntlet. It will also wipe out many main targets.

STRATEGY TALK

Be careful! You see, Kree! is a lot more powerful than we gave him credit for. We thought you could go in the war zone blindly, but oh, how wrong we were.

We used our spy technology to ransack the offices at Singletrac, gathering as much information on Kree!s forces as possible. The following pages should make your mission more enjoyable while also helping you kick Kree!s butt.

—Ron Marciniak

The DESERT

MISSION SPECS

The Unified International Forces saw the defeat of Strike Force Alpha, and they're at a standstill. Everything about Kree'l is a mystery. He can set up installations and then vanish. He also possesses an unknown fuel source that powers his forces. Your mission is to enter the war zone to seek out this new fuel source. Once found, bring it back to headquarters for further investigation.

Initial Target

The first part of your mission requires you to destroy the four towers circled in white on the map. The suggestion is to use your Lock-ons since two of these will do the job. The other option would require either three Swarmers or six rockets. Once these are destroyed, the pyramid in the middle will rise up out of the ground. You will find the fuel source inside this pyramid.

Although you cannot lock-on to these hangars with your weapons, your rockets will blow them up and reveal a hidden power-up.

These guns on the temples can be destroyed with two rockets. If you destroy them before attacking the pyramid, your mission will be much easier. Also you can get power-ups from them.

Once you destroy the pyramid, the doors will blow out and you can fly inside to acquire the fuel source.

Final Target

Method One

The easiest way to defeat the pyramid is to destroy the eight generators (circled blue on the map). These can each be taken out with a single rocket or Swarmers, which is why you should use the lock-ons in phase one. The suggestion here is to come in low and only take a shot per pass.

Once you completely destroy the initial targets the game will jump to a cinema display, and the pyramid in the middle will rise from the ground. In order to find the fuel source, destroy this pyramid. This can be done in one of two ways

Tn's method is a bit more challenging, and it requires you to attack the red eye on the pyramid (circled in yellow). Your Swarmers and Lock-ons will not home in on this target, so hit him with a full 800-blast from the plasma cannon. This, combined with a plethora of rockets, will do the job

If your shields are low, you can hide behind the pinnacle located in the Boss' area (pictured below).

If you lose your shields, you can rebuild them by sitting by the base of the Boss and waiting until they re-charge as shown below.

The line on the radar shown represents bombers. If you don't stay in front of this line, you'll be pelted by bombs from above.

MISSION SPECS

Well, it seems as though a messenger escaped the canyon before you could wipe it out. This is good, because the messenger has been traced to a cloaked transport over the Pacific. Now with the International Forces providing interference, you get to fly in and steal the cargo off this transport. Oh, by the way, you have to do this alone because all the others have been wiped out.

In the clouds there's a shield, Lock-on and Swarmer power-ups.

The AIRSHIP

Initial Target

When you pick up the first container, the guns will be triggered.

First, you'll want to destroy the four Hammerhead escort fish surrounding the big ship. When destroying these, you'll want to approach them at water level. When you get to a shadow, start pulling up so you can shoot rockets at their underbellies. When you destroy a Hammerhead, it will fall into the sea and a power-up will appear. The two Hammerheads that don't have icons by them on the map will reveal red mercury containers. However, make sure you don't pick these up until you have all four sharks killed. Because after you pick up the first container, the guns circled on the map will be triggered, creating more enemy fire.

The Doomsday Bomb and Flash Bomb are located inside the ship. They are in the same room as the red mercury containers, but you may have to blow up some crates to find them.

When attacking the Hammerheads, don't waste your time going after the turrets on top of the sharks. Instead just come at the Hammerheads from below, and the turrets won't even fire at you.

When attacking the turrets on the main ship, you can dodge their fire by flying in an S pattern toward them. You'll basically slalom through their bullets.

Next Target

Next, take out the gun turrets circled on the map. You should use a 400-point charged plasma cannon on each one. Once these are destroyed, the back of the ship will open. This is where you want to go next.

Final Target

The last target is the inside of the ship. You'll first want to go to the back of the ship. Once there, fly into the ship and use your guns to blow away the door on the right side of the screen. Follow the path to three containers and a Doomsday Bomb. When you are leaving, use the Doomsday Bomb to blow away any remaining guns on the walls. This will not only destroy what's in your sight, but it will also destroy the gun on the other side of the ship. When you leave this passageway and fly inside the front of the ship, you should have no problem because everything will be dead.

THINK OF IT AS LITTLE TOY BLOCKS ON GREAT BIG STERIODS

Remember the simple joy of building with blocks? Now take that mental image and pump it up. Way up. Because with SimCity 2000, you construct an entire city from the ground up—and lead its residents into the next millennium. And instead of chunks of wood, you wield 32-bit, landscape-morphing graphics. So you can expand your city with virtual bulldozers. Or turn 1950s tract homes into a solar-powered techno-burb (hey, this isn't child's play). So get pumped for the ultimate block party: SimCity 2000. Now playing on Sega Saturn. MISSION SPECS

Well, it seems as though you got Kreef's attention when you destroyed the convoy, considering he launched a series of attacks against nations around the world.

However, there is hope. The destination of the convoy has pointed to Kreef's main research facility. You must now go and annihilate this sight. You cannot fail. Failure could mean full-scale nuclear war.

The VOLCANO

Initial Target

The first part of your mission requires you to retrieve four red mercury containers from the towers circled on the map. The best way to destroy these towers is to hover your ship just in front of the tower, then keep moving up and down to avoid the enemies' shot. You can destroy the tower by shooting its red base; however, it takes twice as many missiles to destroy the tower this way. Instead, you will want to take it out piece by piece, starting at the top and moving down.

You'll find two containers in the towers above the clouds, and two from those below.

Once you blow up one of the towers, it will start shooting Lava Bombs at you. It is a good idea to start above the clouds because you won't have to worry about Lava Bombs from the lower towers coming at you.

The first thing you should do on this level is grab the Super Swarmer power-up shown on the map. You'll find it sitting on top of a tower. If you destroy the tower first, the icon will disappear.

Many of the power-ups will only be revealed after you destroy either a tower or a gun turret.

The Boss

Once you get the four red mercury containers, the top of the volcano will turn into a Boss. You won't need any weapons after you destroy him, so just start whaling away. The suggestion here is to keep full afterburners on, making repeated runs at the Boss. If you try to stop in front of the Boss, you'll find yourself getting bombarded

Once you kill the Boss, search in the top of the volcano to find the last two red mercury containers.

"I didn't think a ball could fit there."

"I don't think you're supposed to move them when they're all broken like that."

"Help him up."

MISSION SPECS

Finally, Kree's main stronghold has been located, but not before he launched a major worldwide offensive. Every National Force is now engaged.

However, you draw the luck mission. The mothership has maneuvered to a low orbit over Kree's stronghold. A decoy is to be sent out to occupy Kree's forces, so you can be transported inside the fortress to find and destroy Kree yourself.

The vertical shafts are quite useful—they let you rebuild your shields. However, these can also kill you because there are tanks waiting at the opposite side of every shaft. When descending, have your Swarms ready because you will be attacked the instant you hit the bottom. On the other hand, when ascending, you can lock-on to the tanks before they can shoot you, so just pop your nose up, fire and move back down.

This Domsday can be found in the top, back corner in the fire room

You can choose either path to get to the Gatekeeper; however, the left path tends to be a bit easier. The last legs on the right side are extremely difficult

When flying through the hallways, get as low to the ground as possible. This way you can go under all of the rods shooting out of the wall. Also, don't try to force yourself through a doorway, because if you get smashed, your shield will be gone.

You can't lock-on to this enemy, so you'll have to use your rockets to destroy it. Also, it will reappear after you shoot it, so watch your back.

The fire rooms are extremely easy. Just fly slowly and use your right/left slide to slalom between the flames. This is also a good place to rebuild your shields.

The Mid-Boss

First, you'll need to destroy the guns below the Boss with your rockets. Once this is done, just hit each face with Lock-ons or Swarms. After you kill the Boss, look for power-ups in his remains.

Fly around the perimeter to rebuild your shields if they get low.

The Gatekeeper

You'll find the Gatekeeper at the end of the level, and he can easily be beaten with a powerful shot from the Plasma Cannon. This can be very easy if you kill all the enemies in the hallway just before you get to the Gatekeeper. This way you can use the hallway to charge your Plasma Cannon, and you won't have to worry about getting hit by the Boss.

MISSION SPECS

This is it. You finally get the chance to do battle with Kree! However, this may not be as easy as you think. It seems as though Kree has found a way to tap the power of red mercury into his veins. With this power he is godlike and can unleash powers beyond your imagination. You must not fail because if given any more time, Kree will become untouchable. The survival of the world rests on your shoulders.

There is a full weapons power-up on the top of the tower. You should save it until just before you battle Kree because it will disappear after Kree appears.

Next Target

After you destroy the energy fields, attack the rams-head launchers and spike launchers. However, be extremely careful when attacking these. One hit will wipe out almost all of your shields. You should attack flying at an upward angle from the bottom of the tower, using your lock-ons.

STORMLAND

Don't waste your time searching the area surrounding the tower. Although the graphics are very cool, there is nothing to blow up and no power-ups to be found. The only thing the surrounding area is good for is recharging your shields, and in this level, it can be quite difficult. Your best bet is to fly with full afterburner while constantly swerving around, messing up the enemy ship's aim. Also pay attention to your radar because the enemy planes will try to ram you, and this does a number on your shields.

Once you destroy all the energy fields, spike launchers and rams-head launchers, a door will open at the top of this tower. Before you fly in, go to the top and get the full weapons reload because once you go inside the door, your battle with Kree begins.

Initial Target

The first thing you must do in this level is destroy the energy fields preventing you from getting to the top. This can be done by attacking the towers circled in white on the map. Each energy field has four towers that must be destroyed.

You should destroy the first and second level of towers using your rockets while using your Swimmers on the third.

When you are battling KreeL, you will see a message on the screen that says, "Tower Energizing." When this appears, a power-up is placed on top of the tower. You have to get to it before KreeL does, or he will grab it.

It is possible to destroy KreeL's henchmen, however this takes a hell of a lot of ammunition. Once they are gone, they will not come back, so it may be to your advantage to kill them. On the other hand, that is basically a waste of time.

Defeating KreeL

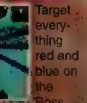

Once you destroy his legs, he can't hit you with his energy field.

In this part of the game, KreeL is a real meanie, and it takes a lot of patience to beat him. When he first comes on the screen, you will find yourself completely surrounded by his fire. Your safest option is to hit your afterburners and do an immelman to fly to the bottom of the tower. KreeL and his henchmen will not follow you down there, so you can use this area to rebuild your shields when they get low.

Once your shields are powered-up, you will want to concentrate your efforts on KreeL's leg. Using Lock-ons, approach KreeL straight-on. When you have a lock, fire your missile and immediately push straight down. If you fly past him or turn in any way, your missile will miss. Also note that your best chance of doing damage is when KreeL is standing still. Additionally, you will want to attack from the right when shooting at his right side.

Once his legs are destroyed, you can perform the actions discussed in the sections entitled ending #1 and ending #2. However, if you want to see the third ending, you will have to keep whaling away at KreeL, attacking his mouth and eyes.

End #1

The first ending requires you to kamikaze yourself into the mouth of KreeL. You should first destroy his legs before you do this so you don't die before your time.

Once you fly in his mouth, you will detonate the last red mercury capsule and save the fate of the world.

End #2

This ending is good for you, but it is a bummer for your mothership because it will be blown up.

This is done when you keep attacking KreeL, and don't detonate the red mercury capsule. After you shoot his mouth and eyes for a while, they will turn blue. Then, his eyes will blacken, but he will save the capsule before he allows you to destroy his mouth.

End #3

The third ending is the best of the three. It's very similar to the first ending discussed, but you don't die. Instead, the world lives happily ever after.

This ending is done exactly the same way, but before you fly into his mouth, you eject from the cockpit, so only your ship blows up.

....It started out as a few unconfirmed sightings.

Grisly tales of vicious abductions and barbaric human experimentation. Now, those who once doubted are forced to believe. And you must set your sights on destruction before destruction sets its sights on you.

TWISTED METAL™

STRATEGY TALK

Twisted Metal combines a racing game with a bust-you-up, guns-blazin' missiles-flyin' shooter with outstanding graphics and a kickin' soundtrack. There are six levels and 12 cars to choose from. With an assortment of weapons including a machine gun, five different types of missiles and each of the cars' own special weapons, TM is a storehouse of explosive fun.

—David Ruchala

METAL-MASHING WEAPONS

SPECIAL: Everything about this weapon depends solely on the car you choose.

FIRE MISSILE: Medium range, slight homing capability; little damage.

FREEZE MISSILE: Will freeze your opponent for three seconds.

HOMING MISSILE: Moderate damage, long range, tracks opponent.

POWER MISSILE: Most powerful missile in the game; no homing abilities.

REAR MISSILE: Fires rearward, slight homing abilities; moderate damage.

MINE: Stationary, does a lot of damage, can send cars flying through the air.

OIL SLICK: Stationary, little damage, can cause cars to slide into walls.

REAR FLAME: Very short range, effective only on tailgaters; moderate damage.

CATAPULT: Launches cars in the air causing damage when they collide with walls.

TIRE SPIKE: Causes light damage but also slows down cars for a period of time.

TURBO: Adds to your stockpile of turbo boosts for increases in speed.

VIEW POINTS

In TM you have three views to choose from. View the action from behind close, in the cockpit or behind far. Each has its own handling characteristics. Behind close is the easiest to control plus you can see all around you, giving you a better chance of escaping an enemy attack. Judging corners is a bit tricky in the behind far view.

Darkside is easily the largest vehicle in the game. However, it is among the slowest and most non-maneuverable out there. The special is pitifully weak but Darkside does have two things going for it: size and the strength of its armor. If you use Darkside, keep these two things in mind. The best tactic is to line yourself up with the target and ram it. You will take some damage but that's insignificant compared to how much the other vehicle is hurting. The Death Blast doesn't do much damage but it fires quickly and regenerates just as fast. Use it over and over again. Freeze missiles are the key to success with Darkside.

Hamming is the quick way to take out your opponents with Darkside.

DARKSIDE

ARMOR

Hammerhead has got to be the cheapest character in the game. Its special is the third most powerful. All you have to do to use it is run over your opponent. Most opponents can only handle three run-ins before they're scrap. Hammerhead is just about as fast as Darkside but can turn a little better. This truck is above average in the armor department, which means it can take a lot of punishment. The absolute best thing about Hammerhead is the fact that to use its special you don't even have to be on it. This means that you can launch a missile while charging and then ram it for twice the damage.

You don't even have to aim carefully because just grazing your opponent does major damage.

MR. GRIMM

This special is a non-homing attack, so aim carefully.

Mr. Grimm has the most powerful special weapon in the game with two hits that will severely cripple anything stupid enough to get in its way. Mr. Grimm is fast and maneuverable. If you're the type to try ramming everything in sight, don't pick Mr. Grimm because it has some of the weakest armor protection available. If you are going against Mr. Grimm, avoid head-on attacks as much as possible unless you like your ribs burnt. Rear attacks are best against this vehicle especially because of its low armor.

OUTLAW

Outlaw is an excellent close-range fighter. Its taser can strike multiple targets at the same time. Smashing into a group of cars would be advantageous for you, especially since your heavy armor can take a lot of pounding. Although Outlaw's average speed and below-average handling won't let you catch up to the faster, more maneuverable opponents, it does let you keep ahead of those big rigs (Darkside and Hammerhead). Ambush is the key for Outlaw. Wait in an alley for just the right time.

With a top speed of 133 mph and a boost speed of 200+, Crimson Fury is the fastest car available in the game. Its handling is also top-notch. CF's armor and special weapon are another story, however. Suffice it to say, they're both a joke. To use CF effectively you must become a master of the drive-by attack. What this means is: Stock up on both forward and rearward firing weapons. As you approach, launch your forward weapons then just as you pass, launch a mine, following up with a rear missile. Doing this will knock out most opponents without taking much damage.

CRIMSON FURY

Speed is the key here. Blow past the other cars.

A vibrant, comic-style illustration for the movie. On the left, a close-up of the Red Ranger's helmet, which has a large red visor and a silver crest with a lightning bolt. In the center, the 'Mighty Morphin Power Rangers' logo is prominently displayed in a stylized, colorful font. To the right, a large, menacing villain with a black and gold helmet and a green visor looms over a blue, mechanical vehicle. The background is a dark, swirling purple and blue, suggesting a dramatic, action-packed scene.

THE FIGHTING EDITION™

WARTHOG

The military's most advanced urban-assault vehicle is here to win the TM contest. With heavy armor and a strong special weapon, it might just do it. Warthog's special consists of three homing missiles that do more damage the more the missiles hit. So one missile does a little damage while two does more and three hits does the maximum for the weapon. Poor speed and below-average handling give Warthog the unique ability to spin around in circles without losing control. So a good tactic is to spin around and wait until one of your opponents tries to hit you. As vehicles come into range, they are going to get hit. In most cases, you'll keep going around and dish out some major damage.

SPECTER

Specter is the next fastest and it has pretty good handling, too. What Specter has over Crimson Fury is that its special weapon is twice as powerful and it can go through floors and walls.

Its major problem is that the missiles are very inaccurate. When the computer plays Specter, it seems that it hits you every time. With weak armor, you definitely don't want to get into a slugfest. Use the same tactic as Crimson Fury. With the added strength of your special weapon, it shouldn't take quite as long to take out the other cars. Remember: Your weak armor can't take a beating.

Specter's weak armor will cause this scene too often.

The special weapon can travel through walls and floors.

PIT VIPER

Pit Viper's special weapon is strong. It fires quickly and regenerates just as fast. It has average speed and armor, but the handling is what hurts it the most. With all things considered, Pit Viper is one of the stronger competitors in the game. Your best tactic is to use your special weapon's abilities. Line up your target and launch a couple of acid blobs at it. Keep doing this and you just might win the whole thing.

Pit Viper has a strong and fast-firing special weapon.

Road Kill is blazingly fast and has heavy armor.

ROAD KILL

Road Kill is one of TM players' favorite cars. Its heavy armor, fast top speed and strong special weapon are the main reasons. Long-range attacks are your best bet when using this car. Although getting into close-range slug-fests is fun (you normally can get out of them with moderate damage), Road Kill doesn't get much energy back from the health stands.

THUMPER

This low-rider from L.A. is used to doing drive-bys. Now it finds itself in the TM competition with a big flame-thrower. It's fast, got a powerful weapon and you could drop a bus on it without scratching the paint. There are only two problems: One, you need a city block to turn around. Two, the flame-thrower only does its maximum when it is held on the target for the duration. Your best tactic is to ram the other car then hit the flamethrower. This will give you the best chance of getting a full hit on the other car. When you play against Thumper, never attack head-on.

SWEET TOOTH

Sweet Tooth has to be the ugliest of the group. As well, it is very slow and you're lucky if you can do a U-turn. Sweet Tooth is armored like a dinosaur and has the second most powerful weapon. So when you are playing, it should be one of the first cars you take out. Never leave ST to the end or you'll be sorry. My only suggestion for this car is to use that super powerful special to whittle down everyone else's energy until they explode in a fiery rain of ice cream cones.

Sweet Tooth ain't pretty, but it gets the job done.

Sweet Tooth can really take the damage.

YELLOW JACKET

Need a cab? Don't call this one.

Yellow Jacket is completely average in all respects. It is well balanced and can get you through a lot, but you must remember not to overstep your bounds because you can't take too much punishment. The special is pretty strong and you start off with five of them so don't be afraid to use them. Besides, they regenerate so you should never be without them for too long. Make sure you know where all of the Health Stands are because you are going to need them.

WAREHOUSE

All of the power-ups can be located around building edges.

The warehouse level is the second level in the game. It has a simple layout and all the power-ups can be located around the edges of buildings. There are two health stands. 1) Health Stands do regenerate after you use them, but it takes around five minutes for them to do so. You have three opponents on this level so pick up as many of the power-ups as you can before blasting them to oblivion. Remember that you can take the missiles you picked up to the next level with you. But if you die you have to start with the default load out.

FREEWAY

It's a simple oval track with a couple of hills added for a little spice. There are four health stands. They are located two on a side (1). The hill areas have two ways you can go. Either the curvy path or the tunnel straight through (2). The tunnel is a great place to set up an ambush but you have to remember to watch your back, because someone can come straight through and pound on you. On the straightaways (3) is where speed and rear weapons rule. If you are in a car like Crimson Fury or Specter, hit the gas and drop some mines, catapults, oil slicks or a tire spike to slow down your opponents. But if you're a big slow vehicle, (Darkside or Hammerhead) your best option is to turn and fight, then run to the Health Stands because you have five other competitors to take on.

ALLEN PARK

Welcome to the Central Park of the Twisted Metal competition. This is one of the more interesting levels mainly because you have alleyways that you can turn into to escape or ambush the other guys (1). Watch out for the ice rink (2) in the park—once you hit it, the direction that you were headed in is the direction you are going in, no matter what you do. There are numerous Health Stands located through the Park (3). Your best strategy here is to skirt the edges of the buildings and get lots of missiles. Then hide in an alleyway and wait until someone is stupid enough to cross in front of it. Pop out and blast away then retreat into the alley to avoid getting hit. Also, if you do this enough times, the other cars will kill each other off, making your job a lot easier. Especially since there are six other cars driving around the park.

CYBURBIA

Cyburbia is the largest and most complex of all the levels. It's like the warehouse, park and freeway combined into one. It also has the most secrets. Jump into the aqueducts and blast away at the sewergrates around the edges. One of them will give way revealing flaming and power missile power-ups (1). Next hop on the freeway and check out the billboards (2a). They'll tell you where some invisible power-ups are located (2b). Most of the time everyone is beating up on each other in the aqueduct, so hop in and blast away. When the fighting gets hot and heavy, get out and find a Health Stand, then retreat using the freeway.

ROOF TOP

This is the last level and the easiest to die on, thanks to the 30-story drop. Most of the power-ups are found around the edges of the buildings or located in objects like boxes, air vents and satellite equipment (1). One of the first things you want to do is blow up the pyramid because that is where your Health Stand and other power-ups are located (2 and 3). Head down the hallway to the lower level (dark blue). If you're lucky enough to stay on the roof and beat the other three cars, you will get to fight Minion. He is very hard and has Outlaw's, Warthog's and Pit Viper's special weapons. But there is a way to win every time. All you have to do is load up on missiles, sit in the hallway and wait for Minion to come after you. Once it enters the hallway, launch your missile. Minion will keep bouncing off the wall and shouldn't be able to fire at you. Once you run out of missiles and your special, turn around and exit through the window. Repeat and you'll become the next TM winner.

ven with the relative newness of the PlayStation, it is clear that gamers have a lot to look forward to. With that in mind, here's a peek at what Mindscape has in store for you console players. These titles are loaded with the quality that you've come to expect from Mindscape, so put them on your checklist of must-have games!

Vast amounts of planning and effort go into each and every

Even with the newness of the PlayStation, it is clear that gamers have a lot to look forward to.

Mindscape title, so it only makes sense to not waste that effort on paltry console game systems and concentrate only on the PC market.

Recently, however, the newly emerging 32-bit consoles have made many PC developers sit up and take notice of their capabilities. Mindscape is no exception. With the much-heralded release of the Sony PlayStation console, Mindscape is preparing to unleash many of its top PC hits to the console gaming population. At last, a system has come along with the pure processing power to make the transition as painless as possible.

One of the first titles to make the jump is CyberSpeed™. This top-notch racing game pits you against other racers (and sometimes the fans!) in a futuristic race that is being televised around the world. The graphic detail and sheer size of CyberSpeed would be impossible on a lesser system, but the PlayStation handles it beautifully. In fact, screens taken from the PlayStation look identical to those on a high performance PC system.

What does all this hoopla mean to you? Well, if you own a good PC gaming system already, probably nothing, as you already are enjoying Mindscape's top hits. If, however, you really can't stand computers, but greatly enjoy the console gaming world, you won't need to miss out on these cool games either. Nothing is left out, reduced, or otherwise crippled by the translation. The choice is yours, fair gamer!

This mini-guide is here to help you get a glimpse of Mindscape's newest ventures into the PlayStation console. You'll learn about The Raven Project™, a highly intense action game that takes you deep into a rebel ship trying to defend the Earth against the alien Armid takeover.

Here's insight on Warhammer®: Shadow of the Horned Rat™, Mindscape's continuation of the highly successful WarHammer® series of games: Don't let the orcs fool ya, pal. You'll have an even tougher time quelling the forces of Chaos this time in a strange new land!

When your tongue is finally back in your head, check out the the inside scoop on three new hit games, Steel Harbinger™, The Chessmaster®3-D, and CyberSpeed™.

The graphic detail and sheer size of CyberSpeed™ would be impossible on a lesser system, but the PlayStation handles it beautifully.

STEEL HARBINGER™

It is the year 2069. The people of Earth thought things couldn't get much worse, what with all the famine, economic turmoil and violence, but things do. Very much so. Alien Pods rain down through the Earth's atmosphere and bombard the planet's surface. Upon their fiery impact they release a virus that infects all organic life. An unknown entity has sent these pods to Earth to pave the way for an invasion. When the daughter of a scientist becomes infected by a malfunctioning pod and becomes a hybrid of machinery and humanity, the last team of scientists come up with a plan: send her to infiltrate the alien invaders and use their own technology against them. She is a Harbinger of destruction, but for which side?

- Enhanced, realistic interactive world
- Highly detailed texturized polygon technology
- Fluid, well-designed animation
- Several paths to take toward the ultimate goals
- Movement in all possible directions
- Automap feature to prevent redundant exploration

CHESSMASTER® 3-D

Based on the world's best-selling computer chess program, The Chessmaster 3-D puts you in complete control of awesome, vivid, 3-D and 2-D chess sets and boards, from every perspective imaginable. Shift your position from above the board to below, from beside it to right on top of it as you play. With the same powerful 32-bit chess engine as Mindscape's world-famous The Chessmaster 5000 for your PC, this program features a variety of unique sets, real-time rendered pieces, and a stunning, multidimensional playing environment.

- Rendered on-the-fly 3-D, or 2-D war room views
- Monitor every aspect of your game with a unique 3-D background main menu
- Perfect your skills with Chessmaster's teaching options
- Set up a position and have the Chessmaster solve for mate
- See the Chessmaster actually think
- Experience an audio rush through sound effects that accompany every action
- Challenge 12 diverse computer opponents, or a friend

CYBERSPEED™

Blast into tomorrow's ultimate race! Anything goes as you fiendishly maneuver your airship to outdrive, outshoot, and outrace opponents in this death defying motorsport of tomorrow, as you are televised to billions around the world. CyberSpeed is a lightning quick, multi-player futuristic game that takes you to the very edge of technology with the latest texture-mapped polygon graphics and 8-player network links. Other racing games that offer similar levels of graphical and physical realism have concentrated on sports such as Indy car and Formula 1 racing. We believe that CyberSpeed offers a substantially unique gameplay experience with the added fantasy element. Because of this high level of realism in graphical and physical terms combined with an extremely intriguing fantasy element, CyberSpeed will achieve a very high acceptance with game players of this genre.

- Eight different airships to choose from
- CD-based techno and metal soundtracks
- Instant replays after every race
- Configurable weapons and propulsion systems

WARHAMMER

SHADOW OF THE HORNNED RAT™

RAISE YOUR AXE AGAINST CHAOS

With blood-curdling shrieks of terror, dozens of the green-skinned demons known as Orcs descend from their mountain lair into the valley below. Their force is awesome as they overwhelm the timid peasants and set fire to homes and buildings. Suddenly, amidst the horror, a wave of hope arises among the villages. Charging from the east are the Grudgebringers—a valiant force of mounted warriors, their leader's armor shining brilliantly in the brilliant morning sun. The Orcs brace for the ensuing battle.

The Setting

Warhammer: Shadow of the Horned Rat brings to life the long awaited fantasy world of Warhammer, the best-selling series of miniatures battles produced in the United Kingdom by Games Workshop. With awesome battles and good old-fashioned game design, this stunning translation to the computer screen somehow manages to remain faithful to the original board game while taking full advantage of the capabilities offered by state-of-the-art technology.

You're cast in the role of Morgan Bernhardt, an intrepid adventurer and mercenary commander. A warrior-for-hire by trade, you're sought after for the most challenging missions in the province-border patrols, ambush and capture, search and rescue. At your command are only the most skilled and loyal armies the Empire's gold can hire—and gold it will take to fuel your sword arm.

Warhammer: Shadow of the Horned Rat weaves an intricate plot of deceit and treachery, honor and valor, action and intrigue, as you become caught up in a momentous quest to protect the Empire against the forces of chaos. You'll encounter extraordinary creatures, from the rat-like Skaven to the ferocious Goblins, during your journeys. Dozens of beautifully-detailed animated story sequences will show the consequences of your actions and their effect on the unfolding story.

The Action

Real-time arcade-style battles play out in a richly detailed and hauntingly realistic 3D environment giving you the freedom to analyze battle situations, administer orders to units, and view events as they happen. The world view, composed of 360° rotating, scrolling landscapes created with cutting-edge shaded and textured polygons, lets you locate your troops anywhere on the battlefield and give them their

THE RAVEN PROJECT

A HIGH-SPEED ALIEN DEATH RIDE

When the alien Armids invaded Earth, no one thought they would conquer us so easily. The massive military of Earth was no match for the sheer destructive firepower at the disposal of the Armids. Earth was no longer a free world.

In the midst of the destruction, a rebel force has formed to combat the Armid and save mankind from extinction. Using strike and fade tactics, the rebels (you) have managed to stay alive long enough to come up with some real hot strategies. This rebel force is all mankind has left, and you just signed up for the long haul aboard the Raven!

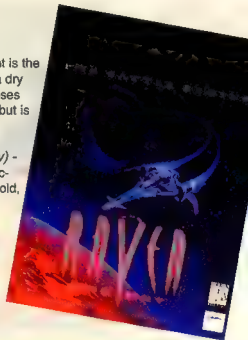

The Raven Cast

Aboard the Raven

Admiral Seymour Grant - In his fifties, Grant is the rebel commander. He's a reserved man with a dry wit who inspires quiet confidence. He rarely loses his temper. Grant listens carefully to opinions but is very much his own man. His presence, while remote, is benevolent.

Captain Sandor Adamak (ex-Isaac Torpov) - The Raven's Executive Officer and Grant's second in command. 40 years old. Adamak is a cold, reserved character, though respected. He's a crewcut, stiff-backed military officer with an unbending sense of duty and discipline. He puts the "big picture" ahead of any personal preferences, which leads him to advise courses of action which may seem heartless.

The Raven Project is a hot action title that will be available on PC CD-ROM for the holidays.

Yes, this is you, a fearless pilot stationed aboard the Raven. There's nothing like stylin' while you fly!

How's this for action? Strap up in a combat suit and fight the Armids in hand-to-hand combat for the Earth!

The cut scenes are like seeing a futuristic movie unfold.

No gridiron traffic today. Just Armids to blow away.

That gunship doesn't stand a chance against your firepower.

Danny Cutter (ex- Scott Jensen) - aka "Ax Man." The hero. 27 years old. Cutter is a Lt. Commander. He used to be something of a hothead, willing to go up against authority when necessary. He is now resigned to the principle that since you can't beat them, you might as well join them. This approach doesn't bring much satisfaction, however; Danny is restless and can be a sorehead. His fundamentally free-spirit nature makes him unsuited for military life; he has stayed with the military because his family has traditionally been in the armed services.

When you're done gawking at this fine piece of gunnery, take it up and blast some Armids!

Battle for Freedom!

This war takes place on Earth and in space where you must control gunships, mech suits, and generally dictate the path the Raven crew take to win. Without your guidance, the war is lost, so don't screw up! You will be greeted by several military personnel and civilians who all have a key role in the overthrowing of the Armid invaders. Pay close attention when someone speaks in this game to gather vital intelligence and gain the upper hand in your battles. The Briefer Droids will hand you your current assignments and may give you tips on how best to handle certain situations. Be wary of your surroundings too, because in The Raven Project, you control your destiny and never follow a predetermined path. This is one of the reasons the game is so unique. You never know if a non-player character will reveal a vital clue.

Who out there is loaded? If you love the Doom-type games and get some serious enjoyment from just kicking back and taking out your frustrations on some computer-generated creeps, this is the game for you. Loaded entertains your eyes with some extremely impressive graphics and entertains your ears with some outstanding music and sound effects. This game is a lot like a top-down Doom with all the baddies coming out of everywhere, intent on killing you. To aid you in the game, you get increasingly powerful weapons that cause even more destruction and chaos. Use the built-in map function to help you find the numerous secrets in each level. You can also go through each level with two players to be loaded with a friend. Be sure to check out this killer game!

BOUNCIA

SPEED: MODERATE
ARMOR: MEDIUM
WEAPON: MISSILES
ULTRA BOMB: FRAG MISSILES

Notes: Bouncia is a powerhouse. With his massive weaponry, including a devastating missile attack and an incredible Ultra Bomb, this monster causes some serious damage. He is truly loaded! Watch out, though, he packs an awesome punch. However, he is not as fast as some of the other characters, and if he gets surrounded, it could be a challenge to get rid of all the baddies without using a Frag Missile. If you do get surrounded, you should be able to survive pretty well with his moderate armor. However, don't rely on that alone.

BUTCH

SPEED: FAST
ARMOR: MEDIUM
WEAPON: FLAMETHROWER
ULTRA BOMB: EXPLOSIVE RING

Notes: Butch has an awesome weapon! His flamethrower is invaluable when you are charging down a corridor and see an entire cluster of enemies running at you. His flamethrower has a decent range, and when powered-up, it can cause some hardcore damage. This guy is extremely quick and has some tough armor. This makes him one of the best characters if you like a little bit of everything. Watch his ammo count, because when you fire his weapon, your ammo decreases pretty quickly.

CAP N HANDS

SPEED: MODERATE
ARMOR: AVERAGE WEAPON: FLINT LOCKS
ULTRA BOMB: VORTEX BOMB

Notes: Cap N Hands is a fierce warrior. With his dual guns he can cover a wider area than other characters. On single enemies, he can deliver twice the damage. He is pretty quick, which is a good thing because his armor is nothing really special. Use his quick speed and strong weapons to dash into enemy-infested areas to destroy as many baddies as possible before getting surrounded and forced to either use a Vortex Bomb or the spin-and-shoot technique.

FWANK

SPEED: SLOW
ARMOR: GOOD
WEAPON: NEUTRON SPHERES
ULTRA BOMB: HOMING TEDDIES

Notes: Fwank is a clown with an attitude, but he doesn't want to put a smile on anyone's face. Instead, he blows the heck out of the baddies in his way. Use his massive weapon power to take out enemies quickly before you get surrounded and are forced to use an Ultra Bomb or spin and shoot. Watch out, though! His gun fires in bursts of three, so it is hard to spin and shoot. He does have good armor, so you will be able to take more damage than any of the other characters short of Mamma. Mamma and he are the best protected.

MAMMA

SPEED:
ARMOR: WEAPON:
ULTRA BOMB:

SLOW
GOOD PLASMA GUN
 RIPPLE GRENADE

Notes: Mamma is another good character. His gun is really powerful, and when it's powered-up completely, it can deliver huge amounts of damage. This guy has good armor and you will definitely need it, because he is one of the slowest characters. Although he is very slow, he can usually take out most of the enemies with his gun, especially if he has it powered up. Watch the ammo count for him, because once he starts shooting, the bullets will just start flying and you can run out quickly. Be careful!

VOX

SPEED:
ARMOR: WEAPON:
ULTRA BOMB:

FAST
 SONIC BLAST

Notes: Vox is a pretty good character to start out with in the game. She has a strong weapon and can, for the most part, take out baddies with two or three shots. She is also one of the fastest in the game, so if you are a speed demon, she's perfect for you. Her only drawbacks: light armor and a slow reload time on her gun. She has the weakest armor, which means you are going to have to be light on your feet in order to avoid being killed. Her gun is also tough to aim. Look out baddies, because here comes Vox!

ICONS AND SPECIALS

In all of the levels you explore, you will probably find one or more of these icons. Any icon you find is good. Keycards are usually the hardest to find and the most important. Keep your eyes open for them.

This crate reloads your gun and lets you continue your carnage. This is the most common icon.

This crate gives the character another Ultra Bomb. Very useful but pretty hard to find in most areas.

See this wall? Keep a sharp eye on the walls as you travel down the hallways. If you see a wall that looks like this, open fire on it. After enough shots the wall will explode to reveal a hallway to a new chamber. This new chamber usually has a ton of coins and maybe some power-up icons. With different backgrounds and levels, there will be different things to destroy. Keep your eyes open for them.

One of the best crates is this one. This powers-up your weapon so it can deliver more damage.

Free guy. This icon is the rarest of all. Usually you can find one of these icons per level.

This crate will completely refill your life bar. This isn't as common as ammo but is definitely needed.

This crate is rare. It can usually only be found in secret areas. It makes the player temporarily invisible.

These keys are vital to finishing most levels. They are scattered everywhere and must be tracked down one by one. After finding a new key, backtrack to see if you missed any doors of that color.

LEVEL 1

Area: Prison Cell (Including Cells)

Objective: Find exit to next level

This first level is a great introduction. You'll get used to controlling your character as well as the powers and limitations of each of his/her weapons and Ultra Bombs. This will also show some of the staple enemies you will face for the remainder of the game. To conquer the multigun platforms (shown to the left), you have to time your rush-in so that the turret on the side you are rushing from is facing another way. Quickly rush-in and take it out. If hit, you will be tossed back a little and will be open to fire from other enemies. Enemies, like the massive gun platform (shown on the bottom left), can be countered by rushing to the platform and staying as close as possible. If you get close enough, sit there and destroy the turret at your leisure—it won't be able to hit you. The map shows the level. Remember that this is the first level and it has a lot of secret passages. You have to rely on your sight and the map to find all of the secret chambers in each level.

LEVEL 2

Area: Administration Level

Objective: Find the Governors emergency elevator

This level has a secret chamber practically right from the start! Follow the hall you start at, and when you get into the first room, there should be a cracked north wall. Collect the power-ups in that room then blow up the wall to make it to a secret computer area. Kill all the guards, then hop on the teleporter to be transported to a couple of rooms where you will gather some power-ups and a bunch of coins. Watch out for the hallway entrances where there are multiple baddies. When you rush them, they will try to surround you and take you out from all directions. Either crawl across the wall to draw them out so you can pick them off one at a time. Also, you can rush in there while holding down the Fire button and rotate the D-Pad to get a circle arc of fire. This can be very useful in all the levels you face and should be used as an alternative sometimes to an Ultra Bomb. This will hold most enemies at bay until you either run out of ammo or you kill them. Remember to keep a close eye on your ammo when you do this technique. It can drain it pretty quickly. If you run out, you will fire at your weakest setting.

LEVEL 3

Area:

Level 3 Area (Bored)

Objective: Find out how to use the

In the sewers, you will be facing a couple of new baddies. The blue troll will come after you right from the get-go, and shortly after that, rats running through the level will randomly attack. The rats are a true pain and are very quick, so you have to be even quicker in order to take them out. They will chase after you until you kill them, so try to take them out as soon as possible. The blue trolls are a little tougher than your normal baddies, so be ready for a longer stream of fire to take them out. Watch out for ambushes when you charge into a room. Use the spin and shoot to get out of a situation like that. Zombies are a real problem as well because they will return to life shortly after you leave.

LEVEL 4

Area:

Level 4 Area (Bored)

Objective: Find out how to use the Zombies are all over this level! As if the common baddies were not bad enough, now you have to face zombies around every corner. Backtracking can be really tough, because all the enemies you just killed are now back at full strength and are out to get you. As shown in the center picture, the spin-and-shoot method works great here when surrounded. Ultra Bombs are useful too, but use them cautiously. The next level is really dangerous!

LEVEL 5

Area:

Level 5 Area (Bored)

Objective: Find out how to use the Move around him in a circle to avoid his Plasma Shots. Wait until he lands then hit him with a steady stream of shots.

The biggest thing to worry about in this level is the enormous amount of bad guys you have to face. They are everywhere! The rats are gone but they have been replaced with what look like dogs. There is not an endless supply of these dogs either, so once they are all dead, that's it. This is also where you face your first big Boss. Beat him then move out to finish this level and head for your next challenge.

DONRUSS

LEVEL 6

Area: Desert

Objective: Find four cans of gas and retreat vehicle

After stealing a vehicle, you travel through the desert and realize you are out of gas! Bummer! From where the vehicle landed, you have to find four cans of gas. These gas cans are spread over a large area. Your main threat comes from the random scorpions that will attack you from the walls. An occasional desert dog will also come down from the walls. There are some icons laying out in the open, usually at a dead end or in a corner. Some of the gas cans are out in the open while others will be hidden in boxes or under rocks. After you get four cans, head back to your craft and proceed to the next level.

LEVEL 7

Area: Badlands

Objective: Find a ret teleport to space port

The main goal in getting through this level is finding those elusive keys. As a general hint, the keys are close to the corners of the map.

The major opposition comes from zombies, scorpions and dogs as you travel through the open terrain. These baddies come in large groups, so be ready for a little spinning action. The center holds a large castle that can't be entered until you have the yellow key. Once in the castle, run forward to avoid any battles with zombies. This will save ammo and just might save your life. Head between the pillars to teleport out.

LEVEL 8

Area: Space Port Level 1

Objective: Find exit to next level

Your biggest competition in this level comes from a computer-generated army of humans. The riflemen are the biggest problem. They can fire through obstacles to take you down. After battling through all those baddies, you will have to face another Boss that was in Level Five. Once again, in order to beat this guy, you have to circle around until he lands. Once he is on the ground, line up with him and open up with all your guns. Watch your health because he will be firing back.

LEVEL 9

Area:

Space Port Level 2

Objective:

Find entrance to docking bay

Once again, the major competition in this level comes from an army of computer-generated human baddies. These guys are everywhere and in major clusters! Also notice that there are many secrets in this level. You either have to watch your map or pay close attention to the walls. Most of the time the secret entrance will be on the north wall and will look like a small hole.

For the most part, it will be a small alcove that will only hold one or two power-ups. One power-up to watch for is the time pause. This icon will freeze time around you, making it possible to charge into any enemy-filled room destroying everything in your path. This will last for about 15 seconds. If you run from room to room, you can increase the body count and eliminate some baddies quickly.

LEVEL 10

Area:

Docking Bay

Objective:

Find and steal spaceship

This level is short and to the point. All you have to do is find the key that will start up a spaceship so you can find the guy who framed you. If you look at your map, there are many side alcoves that will usually house baddies. These baddies are always riflemen and will start taking pot shots as soon as you come into range. The best way to take care of these unwanted guests is by using your strafing technique:

Go down the hallways sideways and take them out quickly. In the large hanger-type area, you will find a couple of doors. As soon as you approach either of the doors, baddies will start pouring out of them. There will be a ton of them—your best bet is to focus your attention on the enemies coming out of the door and use an Ultra Bomb on the rest. These guys will drop health and ammo icons to keep you alive.

Parents yell at you.

Teachers yell at you.

But when 10,000 rock 'n' roll fans yell at you, you'll probably pay attention.

When you play Quest for Fame, keeping up with the rock band Aerosmith is only part of the challenge. You've got to jam your way out of your bedroom and onto their world tour. But you don't need a guitar, because the Virtual Pick can be used on just about anything. Look, it's rock 'n' roll, it's fun and it's something that could drive your folks nuts. LEVEL 11

Area:

Scrap Yard

Objective:

Collect four parts of a bomb and destroy laser fence

This level is similar in layout to Level Five. There are new enemies, though. You will be facing flamethrowers and laser robots. These robots, along with rats and dogs, will create quite a problem for you as you continue through the level. The key to this level is to find all the parts of the bomb then find the laser fence. Each part is numbered, but the parts don't have to be found in order. These pieces can be out in the open or hidden under some rocks or in boxes. After all the parts are collected, find the laser fence and simply walk into it. This will end the level and you will move on to your next challenge.

LEVEL 12

Area:

Processing Plant

Objective:

Find exit to next level

At the start of the level, you are running outside of the processing plant. Find the red key that will let you gain entrance into the plant in the southern most passage. After you get the first key, backtrack to find the entrance to the plant. Here you will have to face an army of extremely hungry rats! You will have to fight your way through the rats to get the next key and move on. After fighting your way through all that, you now have to face some robots, both flame-throwing and blaster 'bots (definitely less of a problem than the rats). The bad thing is that this entire level is occupied by robots and rats. After a little teleport action, you will be jumping from inside the processing plant to outside and out in the open. You will find the blue key next, and in an outside visit, you will find the yellow key. This level can be very frustrating as you go through the rat-infested areas—you will definitely have a tough time getting through it if you are Vox or Fwank, because of their slow reload rate. Although it is tough, remember that you do have Ultra Bombs that you can use. Watch your ammo!

LEVEL 13

Area: Receiving Center
Objective: Find secret access route

To get the red key, you will have to do a little teleporter jumping. Head east from the start to the end of the hall, then keep heading south to get to the room with the teleporter. After a few jumps, you will be in the room with the red key and some robots. Most of your competition will come in the form of green and red soldiers. These soldiers take a lot of hits to kill and can dish out some serious damage if they are allowed to get around you. Make sure you backtrack after you get a new key to search all the rooms that you passed up before. Power-ups are frequent in these rooms and may even be the next key in a room that you otherwise would have passed up. Watch in the shadows for soldiers, though, because they love to gang up on unsuspecting criminals.

LEVEL 14

Area: Security Lab
Objective: Find entrance to the Control Center

In this level you will have to deal with more teleporters.

These teleporters are not the main focus of the level but they do play a key role in its completion. Right from the start you are forced into the teleport ring where you teleport to somewhere else, do something there, then you are teleported somewhere else and have to do something there, etc. Once again, you will have to face the flame-throwing robots. This can be a problem in small rooms where you are forced to rush in and take them out quickly before they trap you in a corner and toast your butt. Act quickly when you see them; rush into them headlong with guns blazing. This usually works and should take them out before any major damage is sustained.

Use the strafing maneuver to get through the hallways without taking a great amount of damage from the riflemen hiding in the alcoves.

LEVEL 15

Area: Control Center
Objective: Find and defeat Fub

Finally, the last level! Here you will face the scumbag who framed you and sent you to prison.

This will be one of your biggest challenges. There will be many ambushes, such as the one shown to the right. These guys will just rock you if you get in range. A lot of the areas in this game are rooms full of crates. This makes it harder to see the enemies, but also leaves more spaces open so you can find a whole lot of boxes with icons in them. Right before you teleport in to fight Fub, you will enter a room that is full of icons. These icons will increase the power of your gun, fill up your health bar and give you another Ultra Bomb to face Fub with. All these things will be used to fight him. He will be one tough nut to crack. Are you loaded enough to take on this monster? Good luck!

ULTIMATE STRATEGY GUIDE

STRATEGY TALK

There's only one word for this game: huge! As difficult as some of the stages are, this game never becomes cheap. Each stage is masterfully designed, with attention to gameplay and enjoyability. The graphics are more of the same screen-splitting, eye-popping, amazing-quality, render-style stuff from the original DK. Of course, the sounds are along the same lines of atmospheric immersion as the original. The addition of a new main character and several animal friends was an excellent touch. So much more gameplay is required to truly master the game with the addition of the DK coins. Each stage must be scoured over and over again to find the coveted coins. You have not truly beaten the game until you have located and gathered all the DK coins. The Secret World is an excellent touch as well. Not only do you have to find the bonus worlds to get the "I" in order to master the stages, but the coins collected there help you reach the Secret World! This is a very highly recommended play

—Jason Streetz

GANG PLANK GALLEON

1. PIRATE'S PANIC

Bonus: Find the Token

First, you will see a rip in the floor. Go over and to the right. Collect the N icon. Backtrack and descend carefully into the lower subdeck.

Proceed inward and to the right. Just below where the N was, you will be vaulted into a bonus stage

2. PIRATE'S PANIC

Bonus: Destroy them all

Get the blatantly obvious Rhino Box icon earlier in the stage. When you spot the backward-facing banana arrow just past a downward ledge, you've reached this area. Back up to the other end of the subdeck and prepare Rambo for a charge. Flow into the door for the entrance to a bonus stage.

3-4. MAINBRACE MAYHEM

Bonus: Find the Token (three) and Destroy them all (four)

To get to the first bonus stage (above), simply use Dixie's diagonal-down hair flight ability to reach the otherwise distant rope network to the right. Once there, carefully maneuver to the right until a bonus barrel is in sight. Leap from the rightmost edge of the ropes and proceed to the bonus stage. The second bonus area (below) is more challenging to reach. Climb across the large horizontal rope, collecting the Banana icons. Leaping from the two rope nodes nearby, grab the cannonball atop the wooden plank. Jump up and across, using the cannonball to destroy foes. Be careful not to drop it!

This Boss is a piece of cake. Collect the eggs he tosses without letting them hit you. Chuck them back in his general direction a few times for an easy victory.

FUNKY'S FLIGHT GUIDE

Keep this handy while maneuvering in the worlds of DKC2. Remember, Funky's Flying Barrel can only take you to the worlds and stages that have been beaten.

All-New Technique!

Hooks provide handy perches for further jumps.

Climbing ropes comes in handy for scaling the ships.

There are many features that were not in the original DK. Of course, the addition of Dixie is a big change. The environment has new elements that even seasoned DK players may not adapt to readily, such as the windy stages of Gusty Glade and Windy Well. Learn to control the Kongs in free fall, or learn to adjust your jumping to the direction of wind currents. Midair hook-like things allow you to hang upside-down and wait for an opportune moment to act. As well, they can be used as a type of "jump stair," giving you the ability to hike higher or cross dangerous terrain. New animal friends join the quest as well. Spiders, rhinos, swordfish and even a returning parrot can aid your quest, if you manage to find and free them. Some stages require you to play through a roller coaster-like interface full of anticipation and excitement!

A Hidden World to Find

Klubba will ask for Kremcoins to cross his bridge.

Kremcoins can only be found in bonus stages.

There are two forms of currency in this sequel. The first is Banana coins. These can be collected commonly and are used to reimburse the various friends you get assistance from, like Cranky or Wrinkly. The second is the Kremcoin. These can be found in bonus stages, hidden across the entire game. Only one person will ask for these. Klubba the keeper of a secret Kiosk (bridge). You will find Klubba in each world, asking a certain toll of Kremcoins to cross his bridge. What's on the other side? A hidden world full of secret levels. Unlike other worlds, you don't progress to a new stage once finished. In the Secret World, you must cross each of Klubba's bridges to attain access to the individual levels of the Secret World. On the pages of this strategy guide you will learn the locations of many of the Kremcoins!

Fancy footwork will be required to get to this bonus stage. Smash the crate located on the indicated platform. Carry the cannonball across the platforms, using it to gank nasties that block your path. Once across to the next major platform, load the ball into the cannon and enjoy!

3. CANNON'S BLAIM

Bonus: Find the Partner

Avoid three of his fireball blasts, then catch the falling cannonball. Let him have it, then jump across the hooks that appear. On the other side, repeat this pattern.

4. SQUAWKS' STAFF

Bonus: Destroy them all! Bonus: Find the Partner (two)

The first couldn't be simpler: Follow the banana trail-arrows to the bonus barrel. Next, be sure to be observant of this stage's barrel setup. Avoid the wasps using careful timing and you just may land in this bonus stage.

Wait for the cannonballs to drop, then toss them at him.

Watch for hooks to drop down and jump across.

KREM QUAY

Hop into barrel oscillating across the ditch. Be sure to collect the KONG letters and a horf-load of banana icons along the way. Once across, the bonus barrel is as plain as day, just below the top of the screen. Go for it.

2-3. SNAKE SLIME
From before the end of the game, a snake slime (two all three)
 To get to the first bonus world, you need to get the invincibility barrel guarded by a launcher baddie at the start of the stage. Then descend into the depths for the barrel. The second bonus stage is simply a matter of hanging on to the cannonball through some nasties. Beware of the bug at the end.

Barrels of Fun Ahead

Warning: To Go with Motion Sickness

You must maneuver tight spaces using launch barrels.

Rattly can kill enemies Diddy and Dixie cannot.

Use Rattly's agility to dance on the barrels toward foes.

In many parts of this world, you will have to navigate through some areas of perpetual motion, like the Snake stages. Constantly hopping and bounding about don't compare, however, to the Bramble Blast stage. Here you must navigate through several challenging, vine-containing mazes of direction and rotation barrels. Believe it or not, there are actually some bonus areas and icons located in the mix. It's simply a matter of patience and familiarity with the control. Know this: Those who are uncomfortable with the barrel controls will get comfortable real quick in the Bramble Blast stage. Although irritating, there are patterns and methods to the patterns. Memorization is helpful in this stage. To make things worse, in some areas you will be asked to bound from barrel to barrel while gakkng and avoiding the nasties, with very little rest period in between.

KRAZYKREMLAND

1. HORNETHOLE

Use King Zing's "Sting" twice.

This stage is rare indeed. Both bonus doors are within one screen of each other. You'll have to be good at maneuvering across the sticky walls. Hook-swinging skills don't hurt either. In order to get past the Kiosk of this world, you're going to need both coins, so you may as well get them while you're here. There are no enemies blocking your path. It's just you and the terrain. Be sure to collect all the banana coins and icons along the way to the two bonus stage doors.

King Zing Sting is perhaps the toughest challenge thus far in the game. He has several modes of attack, including launching stingers and splitting into multiple, smaller forms.

Start by spitting some projectiles at him.

He'll get ticked, turn red and start firing stingers at you.

Avoid his dashing attacks and prepare for another shot.

Take out the orbital stingers first, then go for the middle.

2. RIKETY RIDE

Bonus: Destroy Them All

Before hopping into the skull-carts of doom, be sure to check the starting area carefully. Throwing your partner into innocent-looking terrain pays off. Start at the left, and work your way up to the second ledge. Switch to Dixie and hair-spin across for the bonus area. If you don't have her yet, just go a bit to the right and snag the barrel located on the first upper area, somewhat hidden by wooden planks.

3. MUDHOLE MIRE

Bonus: Collect the 4x4

This whole area requires careful footwork across the swampland. A large variety of barrels and crates are strewn about for you to use in defense. Once you reach the grassy platform with the blue guy running back and forth, you're there. Avoid his charges and throw you partner up into the bonus barrel.

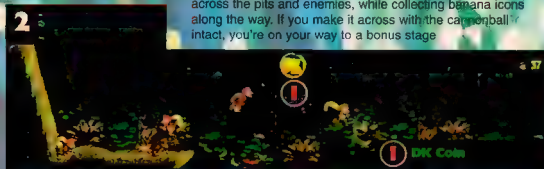

GLOOMY GULCH

1. GUSTY GLADE

Bonus: Collect the Stars

This is simply another case of be-careful-with-the-cannonball-while-gakking-the-nasties. Break the box on the right side of the map, get the cannonball, carry it across the pits and enemies, while collecting banana icons along the way. If you make it across with the cannonball intact, you're on your way to a bonus stage

2. GUSTY GLADE getting the DK Coin

Much of this stage requires well-timed and coordinated jumping because of the wind conditions. You can tell which way the wind is blowing by watching the leaves blow in the foreground. Use this to your advantage, because the Kongs cannot jump well against the wind. An ill-timed jump could blow you back into a pit or an enemy. Just past the highest point in this stage, there is a DK coin floating in midair. The easiest way to acquire this coin is to use Dixie and hair-spin across the pit into the coin, and across to the other side.

It's difficult to believe this Boss was placed so far into the game since he is easy to defeat. Wait out the charging ghost birds, killing the solid ones as they come. When he charges, simply face him with the barrel you're holding and watch him get hit. Follow him up and repeat twice. Nothing could be simpler. Just learn the pattern of the falling eggs.

Wait for him to dive, then hit him with a barrel.

Chase him up the ropes, avoiding the falling eggs.

3. PARROT CHUTE PANIC

Hidden Star Room

Acquire Squawks at the top of the chute. Move from side to side, avoiding the wasps.

Release the Kongs at the bottom. Use the box located there to break the wall just below and to the left. A door will appear, leading to a room full of star icons. Be sure to snag them. This is not a bonus stage, so there is no Kremcoin to collect. Exit at the other side of the room.

Careful coordination will be required here.

Somewhere in this stage is the DK coin. Can you find it?

A door is hidden in this area. Simply walk through.

WEB WOODS

It's Scuttler's Turn

Explore those walls that don't quite fit in with the background. For instance, once past a great chasm area, try exploring the outer area of the ledge on the other side for a bonus stage.

2 Bonus door

1. CLAPPER'S CAVERN

Bonus: Find the Token

Getting Enguarde the swordfish is mandatory to reach this bonus stage. Break him free from his barrel and follow the path shown by the map. Be warned: Several exploding fish guard the area of the secret door. Kill them first, then proceed to break through the wall with a powered-up charge move.

1 Get Partner Barrel

Powerful gusts of wind blow the Kongs upward.

Hooks provide brief rests from the powerful winds.

Icons come to those who are daring.

Be sure to know the pattern of the winds to avoid wasps.

Rambo makes things much easier.

Use the barrels to get edge-guarding nasties.

Enemies like this make tight areas tough.

WINDY WELL

Flying Monkeys!

Diddy and Dixie take flight as they make it through the final stretches of rescuing DK. Upward blowing winds cause the monkeys to levitate at an inconsistent rate, making steering a challenge. A word to the wise: The most difficult path is the one that contains the most icons. Also, where there are wasps, there are banana icons somewhere near. It is totally possible to maneuver through this stage without collecting a single icon. Of course, what good would that be?

2. CASTLE CRUSH

Think Fast

Perhaps the most nerve-racking stage of the entire game, Castle Crush runs you through a gauntlet-style maze of bananas, trap passages and enemies. Be sure to get the Rambo box at the start of the stage.

BREATH OF FIRE II

STRATEGY TALK

Many people have the mistaken impression that only RPGs from SquareSoft are worth spending time on. So it is really nice to see a game such as this one. While it may not be the most graphically intense RPG, it is one of the most fun to play. There is a ton of stuff to accomplish and a lot of cool features that can make the game a little different every time you play. There is a unique feature where you can find up to six different shamans throughout the world. These shamans can be combined with your characters in your party to make them look completely different and give them new powers. Also, Breath of Fire 2 will take you 40-80 hours to complete—it is an extremely big game. This game could be a big leap for Capcom in the RPG category.

—John Gurka

Bosses are probably the best graphics in the game. There are tons of them to fight. However, most are tough to deal different tasks for you.

Die HUMAN Scum.

DOOM TROOPERS

We of the alien race, Dark Legion, will not rest until all traces of humanity have been purged from the universe.

That means you. Take on the role of a Doom trooper, one of only two existing warriors left to fight as death and destruction surround you as you make your feeble attempt to not dare to play hero.

And you do, be prepared to die!

more people are there. You need to talk to the person standing at the far end of the bar (Rand). Leave the town and go north to Tag-Woods. Go through those woods to fight the Boss. Once you've beaten the Boss, take the item you received and talk to Rand in the bar. Then, go to the coliseum and follow the instructions given by the people. Get the new instructions and give up the money when asked. Fight the woman in the coliseum and watch more events unfold. Rand now joins your party. Walk back to the coliseum and talk to August. Be prepared for a fight. Watch the automatic events and rejoice as Katt joins your party.

This section details how to get Katt in your party. She is one of the best because she is extremely powerful and has some really potent magic.

When it is night, go into the pub in Coursair. You'll notice

WALKTHROUGH

While this RPG may not be the toughest, it is one of the longest. Remember, use this only as a reference guide for playing. Reading this while playing could cause you to lose some of the fun gameplay. Use the map on the last page with this guide to see where locations are.

After playing through the first you'll start in Home town (1). Explore the town then leave. Save your game (most of the time) by talking to the statue of the dragon god. Walk east and then go a few steps south. The path into the mountains is enter it. Earn some levels while walking around the life-giving fountain. Go through the first cave to fight the Boss. Travel down the mountain and out the new exit. Walk west to the old house (DownShip). Help the man to recover, especially if you're looking for a place to return to the guild by HomeTown. Collect your money. Don't watch. Choose to go to your room and watch the events unfold. Go into the town. When you wake up, talk to people and find out what's going on. Make sure you talk to Kilgore and then go upper-left-hand. The town. Now go back to your room and talk to Bow. It's time to have a favor returned.

Take Bow to TownShip. After you go through the mountain, then head east over the bridge. Head north over the bridge you see there.

and go into Coursair. Talk to everyone and go back to Home town to explore some more. You'll come to an automatic sequence in front of the Magic School. Go inside the school, then up the stairs to talk to Niro. Once that sequence is over, head to the Joker's hideout in the cave right over the first bridge you encountered. Go through this cave until you encounter the Boss. Go to Windia (north and west of Coursair). Go through the cave, which isn't too hard, and watch that set of events. You'll get a new character named Sten and from there head west until you find Captain. You'll discover that a boy is missing. You'll find him in the well there. Go into the well by pressing the A button next to it and find the boy. You'll have to beat a Boss. While Ray is holding the water, save all the villagers by attacking only the facehuggers on their faces. Once that's done, return to Ray and speak with him. He's going to give you a spell and you should give it to someone besides Hyu. After that, you must return to TownShip. The only way to get back is to have Sten at the lead in the party. Go over to where the cliff is close together and you'll see two pegs on either side. Press the Y button to have Sten reach over to the other side. This will get you back over so you can head back to TownShip. Talk to Niro and choose your new party. Head back to Captain. Remember, you need Sten to get over the gap by Windia. Talk to the girl who wasn't there before. After the event, go back to Captain and talk to the man standing where the girl was. You'll be transported to TownShip, where you'll want to talk to Granny who has taken refuge in a house there. She'll tell you about the shamans.

There are six shamans total and you already have one. The shamans combine with your characters to make new and more powerful ones. The downfall is that if your characters lose their new powers, if they are killed or fall to a critical level of HP, they lose power. If that happens, go back to Granny and have your character re-formed.

Now head all the way back to Captain. You will now be able to go to the docks behind the town and get on the boat that goes over the small break in the continent. Once across, head through the woods and watch to see who you meet there. Now it is time to complete the frog's request. Go a little west, but mostly north, until you get to the Witch's tower. On your way, stop at Sima-ort to regain health and to save your game. Go through the tower to fight the witch. After you beat her, head back to the woods.

Where you met the frog. Once you've beaten the witch, go back into her tower and explore. You might have seen a statue of a woman while going through the tower. If you return to the statue, it'll be alive. The statue is actually the water shaman. Talk to her—she'll be waiting at Granny's place. Have Nina in the lead and talk to the frog. Leave the forest and watch the event. Now you must put Jean in the lead. Press the Y button to turn the whole party into a big frog. Swim to the castle in the middle of the lake. Watch all of the events and when you finally know what's going on, head to the very first place you saw when you arrived at the castle. Go down the hole and explore. Find Jean and fight a Boss to rescue him. After you have rescued him, he'll ask you to do a favor. Do so by going back to the Witch's tower. You'll find the witch gone but she has left directions for you. She is at the restaurant.

Leave the tower and head south-west to the cave on the west side of the river. Go inside and do what is asked of you. Then you will fight a Boss and you must find the witch (Nimilu). Jump in the toilet and look for what is lost. Get it and re-emerge. Now, you must return to the castle and return the item to Jean. After a pretty big event, you now have a new quest. You must search out the items that Jean is asking for.

When looking for the items, go to the prince's bedroom and search the wall next to the painting until the painting moves to reveal a passageway. You'll find the prince on the roof past the secret passageway. His girlfriend is the woman frog standing by the pond next to the man who is painting a picture in the courtyard. Once you have told the prince's girlfriend where he is, you must go back to him. There are two doors there that are now unlocked. The one on the left has someone's treasure and the one on the right is where you need to go. Jump onto the buckets that are heading into the basement. Get off the bucket and go through the door. In the next room, you will see a door on the right. Don't go through there first—head over to the left. Go through the door on the left and follow the maze until you find the big cockroach. Kill it and receive your first item. Now go back to the door I told you not to go through and go through it. You'll see the Gold Fly. After finding it, you must fight it before grabbing it. He should win and then you will have to continue following him. While chasing him, you'll run into the worm.

as well. Afterward you will get the second item you need. Go back to the room where you fought the roach and you will see the Gold Fly. Now kill him, get the third and final item then head back to Jean. Give him the items and head north to the stake. Go up them and into the dining room. Talk to the one at the bottom of the screen to set more events rolling. Now head over to the room where Jean was cooking. Go into the bathroom and press the A button on the wall where the arrow watch some things happen. Go back to Township and look around. Put Bow in the lead of the party and return to HomeTown. There, talk to Klugore with Bow and watch what happens. From there choose to help Bow and go through Trout's house again. Confront Trout when you find the hidden underground and watch. Kill another Boss then watch some more. After everything is said and done, you'll have a new mission. The first thing to do is to go to the Whale Cape. Talk to the man blocking the entrance to the Whale Cave. He'll let you by and you must go in there. Now, put Katt in the lead of the party. Whenever you see a crumbly looking wall that tells you it's fragile, have Katt whack it by pressing the Y button and it will break. Also, make sure you whack the whale's Adam's apple before you go in. Go through the whale and beat the Boss you will encounter. After you beat

Time For Spar

Spar is probably the last person you will find. This tells you how to get him.

Head off to Tunlan. Go to the carnival and pay the admission fee to go inside. Talk to the man in front of the Grass Man's (Spar) cage to find out what's going on. The item that you need is over by the Monster Hunter's Lodge. Go inside during the day, then exit through the back. Walk into the forest behind it. Go into there and you will fight a Boss. Beat the Boss and collect the owl fruits there. From there, go to the SeaCave. This cave is a little tough so you may want to earn a couple levels before going through this cave. Enter the cave and find your way through. A man will ask you if you want to know how to catch one of the creatures. Pay the fee and then listen, or do what he says to save some beans. Go up to the hiding place and lay down an owl fruit. Step away and watch for the creature to emerge. After it's grabbed the food, run up and press the A button. Go into the cave behind the man. You will have to fight the creature in order to capture it, so be prepared. Keep capturing them and fighting them until one of them doesn't die and allows itself to be captured. Once captured, it will ask you to let it go. Do so and receive a powerful sword. Leave that cave then return right away. There will be a charm shield in the same treasure chest. Now go to the carnival and talk to the man in front of Spar. When he asks what you brought him, tell him nothing and then get into a fight. Kick his butt and free Spar who will now join your party.

is. Now go off the screen to the right and fight the imposter. Now Jean will join the party. Look around the castle and make sure you go back to the room where they store the food. Patty, the thief who is responsible for the robbery at HomeTown, will be released into your custody. Now leave the castle and head west. Put Jean in the lead and change the party into a frog. Go into the top of the waterfall with the frog. You'll appear in a cave where you can collect some cool treasure. Change the lead to Ryu and have him talk to the old man there. Now head back to HomeTown. Go there and talk to the man in front of Trout's house. Make sure you have collected Patty from Jean's castle first, though. Explore the house a little and the Boss, make sure you give the Adam's apple another good whack before you leave. You'll watch a small sequence and then you should talk to the man standing on the beach. You can now control the whale and go anywhere you like. First, go all around and try to fill out your auto-map. That map can be accessed by pressing SELECT on the overworld. Also, the second thing you should do is go to Bleu's house. They'll tell you that she is not home. She is in the Magic School in HomeTown. Walk through and talk to everyone you see. She is one of the people. She'll change to her real form and join your party. She is awesome because she starts off at level 35. She has a ton of magic, making her your most powerful ally. Also, she cannot be transformed by Granny. Neither can Ryu for that matter. Go to the section marked Time For Spar to find out what to do next. Come back here when you've finished doing everything described there. With Spar in the lead, go west to the Whale Cape. Get off the whale and walk a little west. You'll see a big forest to the south, and with Spar in the lead, you'll be able to walk through it. You should see a big tree after a little bit. Walk onto it and have Spar talk to the tree. (You'll find out a lot of stuff) and from there return to Tunlan. Tunlan is the town

Where the stupid only speak in a tone of music. Talk to the man that wasn't there before, and he'll tell you where to go next. Put Sten in the lead of the party and head to HighFort. Go there with Sten and get into the castle. After some events, you'll take control of only Sten. Once you have control of him, go down the stairs and collect the treasure. Equip it and save your game. If you need levels you can slowly build them there. It would be much better for you, however, if you have already built him up. Go through and then when you get to a bridge heading north, you'll be fighting a Boss. After beating him, go left over the bridge and work your way through there until you are reunited with your party. Take your whole party through the rest of this dungeon. You will fight yet another Boss. Afterward there will be a little more of the maze to go through. Then—yes you guessed it—you'll fight another Boss. Watch the collapse and then collect what you came here for in the first place. Head back to Tunlan. You will now be able to talk to the idiots there. Find the queen, and then talk to the people around her to find out what's going on. They hint for you to go to Maon

Island, which is north of HomeTown and TownShip. Go there and into the first cave you see. The man you seek is there. Talk to him and you will notice that he doesn't have too much to say unless you're a pretty girl. Since Kati is a pretty girl, put her in the lead and then talk to him. Now go back to Tunlan and the queen. Head back to Maon Island and talk to Gedd's assistant. Go to the top of the mountain with Sten at the lead of your party. Pick the mushroom that looks exactly like the one that Gedd's assistant showed you; else you have to go back to the top of the mountain. Now go back to Tunlan again and talk to Gedd. Gedd will put you where you need to be in order to help the queen. Once there, keep walking around every room and kill every enemy you see until Gedd says you're done. You must kill all the enemies in every room in order to complete this task. It's not easy and will take a pretty long time so don't get too frustrated. Once finished, go through the door that they wouldn't let you through before and get the item that you started all of this for in the first place. Now go back to that tree in the middle of the forest next to the Whale Cape. Talk to him and choose to enter his mind. Enter the first town you see and explore. Leave and head east until you get to the next town. Explore it and then head north to the next town. Explore that town then return to the first town that you explored. You will notice a significant difference. First, go up to the man in the top left hand corner. Talk with him and he'll offer to take you to the entrance for 100 coins. Accept and then talk to him again and he'll offer to take you to the exit for 400 coins. Do so and he'll take you to the treasure chests. Then, talk to him again to go back to the entrance. This cavern is not easy. Take your best characters through here. Work your way to the end and you will encounter a Boss. Leave the area the same or if you have it, cast exit. Then, go to the town in the northeast corner item shop who runs the bank. He'll offer to let you out of the tree's mind. Say yes and ask all the questions the tree will allow you. Afterward, leave the tree and head south over the bridge. You won't be able to pass, you need to leave and get back to the whale. Take the whale north of Whale Cape and the Skytower. It is the little coliseum-looking thing north of Whale Cape. Go through there until you find the wind shaman. In one room, there will be a current of water blocking a staircase. To get around it, start at the bottom of the current and work your way up. When you are parallel to the staircase, push right on your D-pad. Then go up and find the shaman. Make sure to work your way around the entire structure gathering all the money and weapons for the chests. Now, you can go back to Granny to fuse the Wind shaman to another one of the characters. After Sky Tower, head back to the bridge south of the Great Tree. Now you'll be able to go through the pass. Once through, go south to Farmtown. Make sure Rand is in the party and in the lead for this town. When you meet Rand's mom, do all the work she asks you to do. Once done, you must go west to Namanda. (Namanda is the cave you see in the west.) Go inside and talk to everyone. Go through the cave until you have talked to everyone. Now you will be able to make donations to Namanda if you want. You have to make at least 20 donations in order to make the Earth shaman accessible. Then head back to Farmtown to talk to Rand's mom again. You're going to fight a Boss here and afterward head off to Windia with Nina in the lead. Talk to the guard in front of Windia's castle with Nina in the lead. After talking with everybody, you need to find the basement and enter it. Once in there, go through mazes until you reach a statue. Talk to it and take the first. Make sure Nina is a fairly high level like 26 or you will be killed before you can even do anything. Fight the Boss and then return to the king and talk with him. Watch everything and then go to the ceremonial room. After that, you can use the Great Bird when Nina is in the lead and you press the Y button. First, fly to Treasure Island. Extremely powerful weapons and armor are being sold there. Buy what you can and then fly a little to the west to get to the other island that you couldn't get to before. Go to Evarai there. Run around and talk to everybody. Try to get to the church, but you will be denied. Now try to leave the town and you will be denied this as well. You must talk to Glans after you have been denied leaving the town. She is in one of the houses. She will tell you where to go next and then in order to leave, you must jump in the toilet. Go through the cave down there (pretty big toilet) and you will come out in the inn that is south of the huge town. Now you must go to CotLand. Go in there with Katt in the lead. Use her to bust through the rocks you see there. The person you must talk to is in one of the buildings you see. Now you must leave and go to the structure that is south of Highfort, the Thieves' Town. Talk to people in there and then start going through this dungeon. Nina is recommended for she will fly out of traps and save the party from falling. When you fall to the floor that has all the faces on it, talk to the man there and he'll explain what they're for. (The floor tiles take effect after fights so when you finish a fight, the floor will do whatever the old man tells you he'll do.) Go through until you find Patty. Release her from her cell and she'll find a treasure chest. When she's done looking through it, you search and find a switch. Go through the wall and open up the treasure chest there. Take what you find back to CotLand. Talk to Tiga again and be prepared to get in a fight. You can talk your way out of it if you like. Keep watching until it's time to go. Then, you must head to Bando Church. If you don't already know it, the map can be accessed by pressing SELECT. Talk to Tiga inside the church and then go into the hole that Katt makes. Make your way through the series of caves there and fight the Boss in the end. The enemies in this cave are extremely tough and the Boss is extremely hard. Make sure you have plenty of HP and AP power-up items before you come in here. Once done, you'll watch a short series of events and then it is time for the attack. Go to Claris' house to talk to all of your comrades. Now it's time to enter the Grand Church. Talk to Tiga in Claris' house to start this event rolling. Before you are allowed entrance to the Grand Church, you must say the real name of St. Evans' god (St. Evans). Say the wrong name and you have to fight your way in. Walk up the stairs to the main hall and then watch the events. Afterward, follow the priest and you will get into a fight. So be prepared. During the fight, go to Ryu's Spell Screen and you will see a brand-new dragon. Use it. Go to the black box for the rest of the game.

This is it. You're almost there and victory is a short jump away. Use this to help you complete the game.

Go up the stairs through the entire level. Go up to the top and beat the Boss there. No matter what, do not kill the old man that is in the middle of this Boss. Don't use spells that hit everybody, only the single ones. Kill all three of the eyeball things without killing the old man. Once the place falls down, you need to go to Gate. Before going through, go back to the hole in Bando Church. Go down there and you'll find the Holy shaman. Go to the dragon in the back of the town. After you witness the events, it is time to go get Patty once more. You can't use the bird so you must hoof it back to CotLand. You get there only to find that she has left yet again. That's alright though, go to the Wild Cat Restaurant. They give you another hint as to where you need to go: the Thieves' Tomb. Inside, you'll talk to someone who says she went south to a new town. Well, the newest town in the game is yours so head to TownShip and check out all the rooms in your house. You'll find her in one and she'll run off. You must now return to the dragon in the mountain. Talk to the man to set off some events. Afterward, it is time for you to kill the man who is standing there. After the fight, watch some events. Then it is time for you to choose to fight the overwhelming odds in the game. Walk into the cave and go through until you get to the dragon town. A lot of things are revealed to you here. Now when you leave the room you are in, you'll get to play as a very special character. Walk around the town and talk to everyone. Then go back to the house that you first appeared in front of. Walk inside and watch. Once outside, walk back to the town of Gate. Talk to people and then go to the church. Go talk to Goner and watch. Then walk around and talk to more people. Go back to the church and go upstairs and talk to a strangely familiar boy. Walk back downstairs and watch some more. Now, walk outside and then walk to the back mountains and press the A button on the door. Watch some more and you'll soon come back to your party. Walk around the town and talk with people. Buy a lot of items and then save your game. The sixth and final shaman is in this cave. From here, you're on your own. You are very close now and the final areas should be done by you. Enjoy.

IN CASE OF EMERGENCY

DIRECTIONS: Always remember to stay calm. Strap interactor onto back, plug into game system and continue playing normally. For extreme cases, use a higher level of intensity. NOTE: May cause excitability. Do not use as a parachute.

EMERGENCY BREAK GLASS

The way it lets you feel all the action, the Interactor might just save you from a life of video game boredom.

AURA
INTERACTOR™

Can you spot the elephant in this picture?

If so, you're probably smart enough to figure out that paying $149 for a 64-bit Jaguar makes more sense than paying over $300 for a 32-bit system.

JAGUAR™

64-bit

$149*

The most advanced graphics out there. Twice the bits for half the price. And over 40 cerebellum-scrambling games to choose from. If you still don't get why the Jaguar's a better deal, maybe getting that second lobotomy will help.

I-War™

The world's supercomputer is filled with mutant databases. Enter the I-War and crush the machines while you avoid attacks, solve puzzles and make it through mazes. And good luck. Without you, society is lost.

Rayman™

It's a dream come true. You're a superhero battling the arch-neemals attempting to destroy the world. Each colorful level is teeming with cartoon-quality graphics.

Pitfall: The Mayan Adventure™

You're the son of Pitfall Harry, rescuing the Mayan jungles for your kidnapped dad. Feature film-quality animation makes for pendulums that slice and crocodiles that bite.

Zaxxon™

Level after level of brain-burning action coming at you from all sides. Faster and faster until your thumbs are numb, your eyes are aching, and your mind is molten.

FilmOut™

Not exactly the kind of puzzles you find in the Sunday paper. From Planet Earth to Planet Furball, strange little aliens tempt you as you try to solve these puzzles.

Ultra Vortek™

With at least six special moves each, they're seven fighters you don't want to come in a close alley. But meeting them on a video screen is pretty cool when you kick their butts.

3DO

A new kind of hero is heading for your 3DO: Captain Quazar. This gun-toting goodie wants to deal out some serious cartoon carnage in the name of what's right!

STRATEGY TALK

This one will take patience. Each of the stages is almost endless in size and will take time to complete. Sure, it's shoot-'em-up fun, but it's built for those with brains. Keep your eyes peeled for special stuff like invisible enemies, key cards, more ammo icons and bonus areas. With crisp graphics, an excellent soundtrack and maps the size of small piles, CQ should keep you plugging away at the controller for quite some time.

—Jason Street

CAPTAIN QUAZAR

ULTIMATE STRATEGY

The main rifle is your basic weapon.

Use the missiles to take out walls or structures.

Grenades can be used to escape tight situations.

ARTILLERY

Captain Quazar comes prepared with three types of artillery. Because you have limited ammunition, and must look around for more, it is wise to practice ammo-economy. For example, save the missiles for structures and walls.

The basics

Each mission has two objectives to complete. Depending on how well you perform, cash is awarded to spend on goodies. Every mission should have some superbullets and supergrenades! It's generally a good practice to make as few slip-ups as possible on the primary objectives, and score as many of the secondary items as you can. In the end, it all adds up to some serious cash for the Captain. Remember to save after every mission! This game can get extremely difficult at times. A safety net is almost a requirement for this game!

At the end of each mission, you get the lowdown.

You have a wide variety of weaponry in the armory.

INTERROGATION

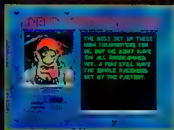

A crucial factor in completing missions is interrogating foes on the battlefield. Often, you will need access codes or hints in order to reach other areas of the stage. The only way to get this information is to talk to people.

Approach structures like these with guns blazing.

A hostage will go free, once such places are destroyed.

Be sure to listen to all the comments thrown your way.

LEVEL 0: DESERT WORLD, STAGE 1

Your gun is your friend

Quazar would be lost without his trusty weapon that can be used to open doors and clear away walls. Although Door Keys can be used to open the sliding metal doors, try a few missiles to do the job. Also, set off explosions by shooting tanks.

Although keys open the doors, a gun will also work.

Destroying fuel barrels can set off chain-reaction explosions.

Where do they keep coming from?

At more than one juncture, you may find yourself knee-deep in foes while trying to blast a missile. To keep this annoyance from happening, shoot all the houses and structures nearby first, preventing new enemies from appearing.

Shooting the houses stops new foes from appearing.

ICONS AND OTHER NIFTIES

Shoot boxes like these to discover helpful icons.

Throughout this stage, you will encounter pockets of crates. Of course, Quazar should shoot everything in sight, including these cute boxes. More often than not, you will find ammunition, health and power-up icons within.

Fear not. There's always some ammo nearby.

Ration the icons you will need later. For instance, collect all the ammo shells you want without worrying about maxing out any time soon. However, health icons will do nothing for a recovered character, so leave it there for later.

OBJECTIVE STRATEGY

FIND AND DESTROY ALL SPICE ROCKETS

There are nearly 30 rockets located throughout this stage. Each must be destroyed before it launches. If too many slip by, you will lose the mission. Keep in mind that the missile starts its launch sequence the first time it appears

FIND AND DESTROY ALL PROCESSORS

"on-screen" Ignited missiles will launch in about seven seconds from the time you first encounter them. It is crucial to destroy them as soon as you spot them! Destroy all the big blue vats, too.

LEVEL 1: DESERT WORLD, STAGE 2

OBJECTIVE STRATEGY

FREE THE SLAVES FROM THEIR HUTS

Locate the color-coded keys hidden throughout the stage and match them with the huts. Simply walk into the door of the hut. If you have the correct key, a slave will come running out. Go to the next slave.

DON'T BOTHER PROTECTING THEM

Sure, you're the good guy out to save the galaxy...but don't waste your time trying to protect the slaves. They're invulnerable and disappear once off-screen. In the pre-production version, they run through walls.

Search and you shall receive

Although some keys are easy to find, others are not. Furthermore, some of them are protected by electric fields. Scour the nearby area for field cards and more hidden keys. Who knows, you may turn up a gem or two for cash!

Cute little gems like these can be found hidden about.

You'll need that key to free the slaves. Go find a field card.

Be thorough

Free some slaves, gak the nasties. Simple, right? Sure, if you know all the passcodes and don't want to get paid. Blast all the processing stations for bonus cash and question prisoners to learn the passcodes for the transporter devices.

Prisoners assist your search for transporter codes.

Machines like these count as secondary objectives.

KEEN BONUS STUFF

As hinted at by the enemies, there's a bonus area known as the electro-maze. Careful footwork will be required to clear this area. Be warned: Once in, there's no turning back!

ICONS AND OTHER NIFTIES

Superbullets will come in very handy.

In this stage, you will encounter several caches of hidden superammo. These bullets are great for blasting the enemy, but can easily destroy nearby structures if you're not careful (like huts with slaves in them).

Most of the keys are hidden in boxes and crates.

Keep up your search for icons in boxes, and you will encounter the occasional color-coded key. Match the keys to the appropriately colored doors to free the slaves. These keys are hidden in structures and on enemies.

LEVEL 2: DESERT WORLD, STAGE 3

OBJECTIVE STRATEGY

FIND AND DESTROY ALL SPICE MACHINES

Each refining station is composed of two parts: a large green thing and a vat processor. Each takes a missile or two before going down. Be sure to look around carefully for these.

FIND AND DESTROY ALL TUNNEL DRILLERS

Don't try to outrun them or shoot them head-on. If you can, secure yourself behind a nearby object or wall to lob grenades at their backs. Be careful, approaching drillers directly is deadly.

Illumination

In addition to the flaring of your gun as it fires, be sure to use the lightposts for illumination. Be careful, though, for these lightposts can be shot and destroyed. Of course, this would lead to a difficult situation, with no light in the area except when you light up the gun. Try to avoid hitting the lights to save yourself some big ammo costs in the end.

The lightposts don't provide as much light as you'd like.

What good is it?

If you're careful, you will locate several invisibility potions. These are generally located near some difficult situations. Use them to your advantage and clear through some of the enemy-infested, obstacle-strewn corridors. Be light on your feet, though. The effect of one such potion wears off very quickly and could leave you in a very compromising situation.

Snag the available invisibility potions for the sneak attack.

ICONS AND OTHER NIFTIES

A Field Card would come in handy here.

Many of the areas are partitioned off by electric fields. Like previous levels, the cards required to clear these obstacles are hidden. However, most of the field cards here are actually guarded by large enemies, including the Tunnel Drillers. Needless to say, economy of the field card comes into play in this stage.

BEATING UP THE BOSS

Do not try to go in close, as shown above!

Stay at a running distance and lob grenades at him.

Doobah isn't going to come easily. While in his little hovercraft, he is quite the formidable opponent, launching missiles and artillery at you. Avoid this by running from him for about one screen. Once this far, take a few steps forward and lob a grenade. Repeat.

LEVEL 4: JUNGLE WORLD, STAGE I

ICONS AND OTHER NIFTIES

Keep that flamethrower ammo handy.

Either purchase or locate the hidden flamethrower ammo for use on the killer plants. Rather than wasting missiles and bullets, nail 'em with some fire!

Forest ranger-Quazar style?

Not entirely in his ideal environment, the Captain has many unfamiliar terrains to face. Much of the foliage is harmless, save the spitting red plants. Of course, the flamethrower makes short work of them. Other problems include the persistent efforts of all-new enemy types and some infectious swamp areas. There are two depths of waters in the lakes and ponds. The darker blue water is too deep for Quazar to survive in for too long. Limit travel through these areas. Also, the spored green ground infects Quazar with a poison. This poison can only be cured by collecting hidden H icons.

Areas like this need a good dose of shrapnel.

If you get infected, you will need the H icon.

Troubled Waters

Many of the artifacts are located on small islands, surrounded by treacherous waters. To get rid of the sharks, toss grenades into the water at close range. Nearby sharks will be blown to bits!

Step in just far enough to group them, then fire.

OBJECTIVE STRATEGY

LOCATE AND ESCORT AMBASSADORS

Where there is a star-shaped teleporter, there is an imprisoned ambassador nearby. To make your job easier, clean the area of all enemies and hostile structures. Once done, free the ambassador and escort him to the teleporter pad.

LOCATE STOLEN ARTIFACTS

While rummaging about the forest for the ambassador prisoners, be sure to snag all the secondary objectives you find: stolen artifacts. As mentioned, many of these are hidden or heavily guarded by sharks or other dangers.

LEVEL 5: JUNGLE WORLD, STAGE 2

Brains anyone?

To be honest, our preproduction copy of this game didn't explain the purpose of the brain-bowl structures you will find on the second and third floors. They take damage, so it's our guess that it's to your advantage to shoot 'em!

What are they? Who knows!
Shoot them.

The bigger they are...

Some hefty opposition lurks about. Keep plenty of ammo handy. If possible, buy loads of superammunition before entering. It will be useful.

The enemies down here are much more difficult.

ICONS AND OTHER NIFTIES

Shields make things so much easier.

Hidden at random locations in these cavern structures are shield icons. Use them wisely, because the shield has a time and damage limit. Be sure to keep a few in store for fighting the clones of Quazar.

OBJECTIVE STRATEGY

FIND AND DESTROY THE QUAZAR CLONES

Interrogated enemies will tell you that the clones are on the third floor only, but you'll encounter them on the second. The clones have all the attacks and weapons of Quazar, except the spin-style mass attack. Wait for a few of them to group around you, then let them have it with some spinning grenades or missiles. Don't waste your time with bullets unless you have a lot. Take out the clone machines on the third level with grenades.

BEATING UP THE BOSS

Close attacks like this are nearly suicide.

Remember fighting Doobah? Use the same strategy.

Quazar must confront two walker-style droids on the surface of the caverns. Each has some form of defensive field and a very large rotor-firing weapon of some sort. Do not confront these things head-on. Pace yourself as you did when you fought Doobah's hover tank. Use grenades to blast into victory.

How would you design the perfect boxer?

CENTER RING ★ BOXING ★

One of the most realistic boxing simulations ever made. More machine than man, this is the undisputed heavyweight Champion of the world, the winner, the champ. Now, about you... In Center Ring Boxing, create your own personal boxer, select his stats, even the color of your trunks, train consistently to build speed, power, and stamina. Then, box the socks off every challenger in your way. With devastating combos, hooks and uppercuts, he might just earn that belt over Bar Robinson. You'll look better than this!

LEVEL 7: LAVA WORLD, STAGE 1

ICONS AND OTHER NIFTIES

Keep a large supply of superbullets around.

These nasties are a tougher breed than in previous levels. Some of the standard gun-toting lackies can't be harmed by normal bullets! Be sure to load up on all the essential heavy artillery before starting. Also, the terrain is very hostile in this level (as described below). Even the floor can cause damage in certain areas. If you are the adventurous type, or just into survival, look around in some of the foreboding-looking regions for hidden health icons.

In some of the forlorn areas, health is hidden.

Superbaddies

Enemies here are much more difficult to kill. There are some who are not harmed by normal ammo! Don't bother wasting ammo in areas that aren't near transport sites. Save the big guns for clearing away uranium sights.

Avoid needless firefights with enemies like these.

Watch your step

The terrain is your enemy here. Sure, the foes have large guns and take lots of ammo to kill, but many of the regions of the map are instant kills. Boning up on the diagonal control is strongly recommended before getting anywhere in this stage. Much of the map is tricky bridge walking and fire dodging. One false move and it's barbecued Quazar for the nasties. One suggestion for this area is to tweak the diagonal "gravity" in the Options Menu. This will enhance the tightness of diagonal control Quazar exhibits. This will be helpful for some of the one-character-wide bridges and tricky lava raft jumping. Be patient and keep those controller fingers chalked up.

Areas like this require phenomenal diagonal control.

Keep a very good distance from the edges of chasms.

Tanks, Tanks

There are plenty of background tanks waiting to be gakked. If you don't have copious amounts of excess ammo, don't bother destroying them. Save missiles and grenades for emergency enemy-clearing situations.

Tanks are always fun to blow up.

OBJECTIVE STRATEGY

TRANSPORT ALL URANIUM

Like the ambassador-helping stage, move small pockets of uranium from their rocket casings to the transporter pads. However, there is a time limit from when you acquire the radioactive material to when you drop it off at the transport point. Also, foes shoot at you a lot. Clear the area of all structures and enemies first, like in Stage 4. Carry the volatile material to its destination. Once done, go to the computer terminals to download the information.

DOWNLOAD QX'S COMPUTER FILES

LEVEL 8: LAVA WORLD, STAGE 2

Electrifying

Don't try any fancy footwork with the electric floors. Although very fast, the floors do have a pattern. Generally, it's as simple as waiting for the opening, and following the holes in the pattern.

If you slip up, say hello to one toasty Quazar.

Wall doors

A little lost? Try going straight up from where you start, engage the nasty there, shoot the wall pictured below then walk through it! Now there's some progress!

Hidden doors can be found in some of the walls.

ICONS AND OTHER NIFTIES

Lob a few grenades in the appropriate direction.

You know those really big, gunless uglies who pummel you into the ground? Chuck a few grenades in their general direction. It works wonders.

What a mess

In the final land-based stage, Quazar must locate and activate several door-controlling computers. Utilizing a complex network of teleporter pads and plowing through massive denizens of foes will be required to complete this mission. Each wall door has a corresponding computer that will open it. Be warned, however. Each of these computers are generally located in some out-of-the-way place of the stage relative to the location of the wall door. Trekking across this mess of a stage will involve the occasional nasty encounter by the local uglies. I hope you brought some superbullets with you!

Wall doors have corresponding computers to open them.

It wouldn't be a Quazar mission without some foes.

OBJECTIVE STRATEGY

TRY FIERCELY TO FIND CRIMELOARD OX!

Quazar needs to locate Ox. To do this, you will have to solve a complex maze of teleporters and door computers. Consult the above maps!

BEATING UP THE FINAL BOSS

When the green ring surrounds his ship, he has shields up.

Get the icons without losing track of Ox's ship!

Avoid the blue blackhole things.

Star Control freaks will love this ending stage. Chase Ox's spaceship across a myriad of Asteroids-like cosmic terrain. Avoid the blackholes and other pitfalls while whaling on Ox with torpedoes and basic shots. Remember, let him get too far and you lose a life and have to start over!

The greatest football games of all time.

STRATEGY TALK

We hit pay dirt this month with tons of exclusive pictures and secrets that surround the new MK3. What was intended as a simple upgrade is quickly setting a whole new trend of Mortal Mania. On the surface, it may appear that UMK3 isn't too different; however, when players check out all the hidden characters, secrets, codes and moves, they'll be able to tell the difference. A lot of the gameplay has been revamped as well, with different damages and adjustments to existing moves. The game will continue to be hot because of the numerous playable characters that are hidden inside. This may only be an upgrade, but it sure packs a big punch.

OLD CHARACTERS REVISED

Besides the obvious addition of new characters, backgrounds, etc., some of the original MK3 crew have undergone some big changes. A few characters have a new move or combo, but a lot of others have changed. Cyrax can only have two grenades on the screen. Sub-Zero's Ice Clone disappears if blocked. Shang Tsung's morph announces the character you turn into.

Stryker has a new gun move (B, F, HP) that can be used with his old air combo. After you knock him/her up, do the gun, run in for a High Punch and do a Baton Throw.

Kano's new roll sends him up on an angle that looks like Blanka's. (F, D, F, HK)

Some moves and damage have been altered to balance the characters.

Both Sonya and Liu Kang have air juggle combos. Liu: HP, HP, B+LP, Hop kick, Air Fireball, Fly Kick

Sonya: HK, HK, HK, HP, HP, U & LP, Square Wave Punch

SATURN

SOLAR ECLIPSE

STRATEGY TALK

This game hides behind a mask because there is more to it than flying blindly through the level.

There are dozens of hidden levels throughout this game. Many of them can be accessed through codes, but others are discovered by flying through some obscure nooks and crannies. You can die while flying in these bonus levels, but they're a good opportunity to obtain extra lives and power-ups.

In this guide we will give you a general idea of how to access these hidden levels. However, we will leave the majority of the secrets up to you to find.

—Ron Marciniak

TEAM TITAN LEVEL!!!

If you're good enough to beat the game, you'll discover a new level that features the insane dudes of the Titan Team who programmed this game.

(Blow away the digitized programmers' heads.)

Don't just think your squadron mates are talking for the hell of it. No sir, they can provide you with valuable hints. Also, your On-board Tactical Computer (OTC) feeds you tactics concerning the defeat of certain enemies. So listen up!

By double tapping either the Left or Right button, you'll make your ship roll 90 degrees, which is useful in very tight situations. Also, tapping both the Left and the Right buttons will level your ship out.

UNDERSEA LEVEL!!!

The first hidden level is very easy to get to, and requires that you simply beat the first Boss in record time. Once in the level, try flying underneath the water for a cool effect.

UnderSea Level

You killed the boss with time to spare. Now let some fun in the bonus level.

levels but by also destroying enemy formations.

COW KILLER LEVEL

This hidden level exists somewhere in the game. Its whereabouts is a mystery. You can get to it by taking a detour in one of the mission levels.

ARCADE

STRATEGY TALK

Open Ice is the next Midway sports title, and it is modeled quite a bit after NBA Jam. Jack Haeger, Ken Fedesna, Mark Penacho and the rest of the team who worked on this game are all extremely enthusiastic about the NHL and are very happy with the results of this two-on-two hockey game. Will it do for hockey what Jam did for basketball in the arcades? Hard to tell at this point. However, the timing for the release of this game was spectacular: right at the start of the hockey season. Every detail was examined in this game, especially the goalies' stances and masks. Jay Cohen, one of the most well-known refs in the NHL is the referee in the game, and Mike Waldron is the universal skater. All the 26 NHL teams are here and six or seven teams have four characters to choose from instead of the normal three.

—Mark Hain

Pat Foley, a real NHL announcer, is in the game!

Open Ice is the first ever NHL licensed arcade game!

TRICKS

Little Haeger is one of the best special characters!

Little Fedesna is faster than Haeger, but not as accurate.

Special Characters:

*All old characters from Jam work, like Boon, etc.

Open Ice 2 on 2 Challenge is a two-on-two hockey game. It's a fast-paced, action-packed game that's perfect for the arcade. The game features 26 NHL teams and 64 characters. You can choose from a variety of characters, each with their own unique abilities. The game is easy to learn and play, but it's also very challenging. It's a great game for friends and family to play together.

Video Game Contest. Play on the hi-tech cutting edge with this line-up: Sony Playstation; Sega Saturn; Virtual Boy; 3DO; and Atari Jaguar. Get all five or trade the ones you don't want for CASH! Bonus options include: 33 inch monitor, $1,000 in games, cash, accessories and more!

We're talkin' GAMING HEAVEN!

In the future. There will be four more puzzles at $2.00 each and one tie-breaker at $1.00 which will be sent to you by mail. You will have 3 weeks to solve each puzzle. We don't know how many will play but typically 55% will have the highest score possible score to Phase I, 43% to Phase II, 36% to Phase III, and 32% to Phase IV. The tie-breaker determines the winner. If players are still tied they will split the value of the grand prize they are playing for.

CLIP AND MAI

The Track Mode gives you helpful hints and tips.

The turbo colors are more unique than those found in Jam.

He's on fire! The hot puck works different than in Jam. Every time you shoot, hit or steal, it raises your hot bar!

There are several super shots, like the shadow shot!

Some teams have four characters instead of three.

Open Ice has Special Teams just like Jam, and they're just as hard!

Jack Haeger is the all-time goalie for the special teams, and he uses his old college mask!

Gaming Without Interact Is Like Cordless Bungee

That's just what'll happen during the most intense moments of your game if you don't have the proper equipment. Interact accessories are your life-blood through the most extreme video game realms. With the appropriate Interact equipment for Genesis ~ SNES ~ 3DO ~ Saturn ~ PlayStation ~ Game Boy ~ Game Gear ~ and IBM PC, the biggest challenge you'll face is deciding which peripheral to use. Hey, choices are good — so check 'em out and see what suits your style...

And, no, we don't recommend trying this at home.
